MURDER RING IS UNEARTHED

PRIEST NAMED IN MURDER CASE

Mentioned in Myeski's Confession of Slaying Girl

PAYS PENALTY IN CHAIR

Youngstown Man Meets Death With Smile

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Without murmuring a word

Myeski, 22, of Youngstown, Ohio, met his death in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary early today for his part in the murder of sixteen-year-old Stella Korn, near Youngstown, September 1, 1921.

With unflinching step and head and body erect, Myeski went through the proceedings, preparatory to his execution as tho he had been drilled in them.

NO MOOD TO PRAY

Myeski apparently was in no mood to pray, as is usually the case in the last few minutes of a condemned man's life. The only movements of his lips from the time he entered the chamber until the black mask was strapped about his head was a faint smile which crossed his countenance a second after he sat down in the chair.

A few hours before his death Myeski, in a sworn confession admitted his guilt, and pleaded for "relative justice" for his accomplices in the murder. His statements to newspaper men along this line were particularly directed at Charles Marovitz, now serving life in the penitentiary for his participation in the same crime.

Myeski, he said, a "Rev. Father Kozinski" had ordered he and Marovitz to "take the girl out and kill her."

CRUEL MURDER

According to evidence in the case, Myeski and Marovitz took the girl into the country about three miles, assaulted her, beat her and fractured her skull and abandoned her along the road. Myeski said Marovitz beat the girl against his protest. She died 36 hours after being found. He declared that it was not fair that he alone should pay the death penalty. A state official who considered Myeski's case declared the murder was one of the most brutal on record.

DR. HILL TO TALK ON LINCOLN

Rotary Meeting Monday Scheduled at Central High School

"Principles of Lincoln Applied to Present Day Problems" is the subject of an address to be delivered to Lima Rotarians and their guests by Dr. John Wesley Hill, Monday night.

The meeting will be held in the Central high school auditorium at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

DEATH LIST MAY GROW

That the death list would be increased today seemed to be the consensus of opinion. Fifteen bodies were weighed about the necks and cast into a pond, a miner told a correspondent of the Associated Press, and the area over which killings occurred was estimated at fifteen square miles of hilly, timbered land.

WITNESSES

WAPAKONETA—Herman Brandeis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for county representative, has withdrawn from the race. It was announced here. No reason was given.

Situation at Harris Not Considered as Settled

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. — (Associated Press) — Two men were killed, a deputy sheriff suffered a broken arm and a dozen other persons received minor injuries when a mob attacked an interurban traction car carrying non-union miners and officers of the Hudson Coal Company, guarded by deputy sheriffs, from this city to the Lewis mine, near Reynoldsville, this morning.

The mob stopped the car, pulled off the trolley and swarmed aboard. Two of the attacking party were shot as they crawled thru windows.

The mine was opened on an open shop basis Monday.

SITUATION IN ILLINOIS

HERRIN, Ill. — (Associated Press) — Herrin today remained quiet after the wild disorders of yesterday in which at least twenty-seven men were killed and an unknown number wounded when 5,000 union miners and sympathizers attacked approximately half a hundred imported steam shovel men and laborers working on the Lester strip pit of the Southern Illinois Coal Company.

County officials maintained that since no one remained at work in the strip pit that of itself was a guarantee against further outbreaks and asserted the 1,000 members of the Illinois national guard ordered to mobilize in Chicago for possible duty here were unnecessary.

An inquest into the carnage wrought by the miners and their supporters, when influenced by moonshine whiskey and angered at the efforts of the strip pit workers, tore down at dawn on the huddled group, was set for today. However, until late last night, no official step to investigate the affair had been taken, no grand jury had been summoned and no arrest had been made.

OPEN HOSTILITIES

Miners in Herrin streets openly boasted that they participated in the infliction of deaths by gunfire, hanging and dragging thru the streets in a veritable Roman holiday, but there was no action against them.

That today would bring official action of some kind was undoubted. That this action would bring little in the way of results was the prediction of most every one in touch with the situation.

The order of Governor Small last night to hold 1,000 men of the militia in readiness in Chicago was greeted on the street, here with sarcastic comment. A member of the police force told the correspondent that if troops were sent here, he would "take the night police force and clean them out. Inquiry developed that he himself was the night police force.

THREATS MADE

The request of the governor for an official report brought more sarcasm, the gist of which seemed to be that there was nothing to report officially.

Early this morning several newspaper men were privately informed that plans were afoot to burn a number of mines which in previous years had labor troubles.

All that remains of the Lester mine is a heap of ashes, for it was set on fire shortly after the attackers captured it. Mr. Lester, the owner, was reported to have come here from Chicago, but no one had been able to find him this morning.

Early today Sheriff Thaxton told newspaper men that the situation was well in hand and there was no danger. That was the only official statement in the early hours of the day.

DEATH LIST MAY GROW

That the death list would be increased today seemed to be the consensus of opinion. Fifteen bodies were weighed about the necks and cast into a pond, a miner told a correspondent of the Associated Press, and the area over which killings occurred was estimated at fifteen square miles of hilly, timbered land.

The statement of Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois branch of the United Mine Workers of America, issued at Cincinnati, that his information indicated 44 men had been killed was interpreted as meaning that the entire number of besieged strike breakers had perished, although his own knowledge could account for a number more than a score of bodies. Mr. Farrington was expected to reach Herrin tonight.

The dead at first were reported as

BABIES BURNED, NURSES CLAIM

Sensational Charges Made Against Syracuse Sanitarium

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (United Press) — Investigation is under way by police here today of charges that bodies of new born babies were burned in the yard of a local sanitarium.

The charges were made by Miss Margaret A. Weaver, 22, a student nurse employed at the sanitarium. She was supported in her statements by Miss Elizabeth Estelle Metcher, 18, another student nurse.

Mrs. Violetta A. Lott, 53, who runs the sanitarium, and her son, George Lott, were detained at police headquarters over night and were still held today, pending further investigation of the strange story told by the two girls.

QUARREL ADMITTED

No charge has been filed against them. Both deny the assertions of the student nurses, who admit they quarreled with Mrs. Lott before making the allegations.

BOBBY ROBBED AT HOOSEGOW DOOR

Bold Thief Steals Latch From James' Flivver

Even police property is not thief-proof. When at his domicile or headquarters a cop is as liable to a "touch" as any other citizen.

Patrolman Elmer James admitted the truth of the statement when Friday at 3 a. m. he parked his Ford in front of headquarters and somebody stole a latch off a rear door.

In vain did James and fellow officers search for the culprit. Possibility of it being a practical joke by colleagues was removed because there was no officer of humorous bent about the station when Elmer's latch seemingly took legs and walked away.

Elmer would like very much to know the name of the person who tampered with his flivver. He has filed complaint with the police department.

PLANS FOR GASOLINE PROBE ARE ADVANCED

WASHINGTON — Plans for the senate investigation into gasoline price increases moved forward today with the employment by the Manufacturers Committee of Gilbert E. Rowe, Madison, Wis., as counsel, and decision by the committee to submit questionnaires to all oil interests on gas and oil holdings. Mr. Rowe is a former law partner of Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, chairman of the committee.

NEW COURTHOUSE IS ADVOCATED

W. H. Duffield Urges Sale of Present Site on Main-st

Deplores Spending More Money on Old Structure

Sale of the Allen-co court house and location of a new building outside the business district, is suggested by William H. Duffield, banker and large property owner, as a solution of the problem of raising funds for a new structure.

He believes that it is possible to realize enough from sale of the present site to buy farther out and practically put up a new building without necessity of bond issue.

Proceeds of the sale of the property, plus $75,000 to $100,000 planned for expenditures for repairs on the old building, Duffield believes, would amount to close to a half million dollars.

Besides, the county would have the salvage of the building.

PROPERTY AVAILABLE

Property two blocks west can be purchased at a fourth or fifth of the cost of Main-st frontage, it is pointed out.

Another suggestion made by Duffield is that the city and county sell all property in the business district and join in the construction of one building.

This is being done in Toledo, he says, and has been done in Chicago. Duffield does not believe it wise to spend more money on the present obsolete structure.

Action should be taken now, it is stated, before the city grows larger and property values increase within easy walking distance from Main-st.

SLANDER CHARGED TO MASSMAN

Woman Asks $5,000 From Market-st Resident

Balm amounting to $5,000 to soothe her injured feelings and good name is demanded by Mary McGregor, in a suit for slander filed against Ralph Massman, 1073 W. Market-st, in common pleas court, Friday.

Massman is manager of a dry cleaning establishment owned by R. C. Massman, his father, on N. West-st.

The plaintiff is said to have formerly been employed in a restaurant operated by Ray Kinsey, 215 1-2 E. North-st. She testified in criminal court recently, regarding liquor seized by the police in a raid on the place.

She alleges that Massman has spoken false, slanderous and malicious words about her and that it has caused her great injury, prejudicing her name.

Massman is a former husband of Stella Massman, 374 S. Pine-st. He was divorced by her in common pleas court more than a year ago. Later he was arrested and sentenced to jail for failing to pay alimony awarded his wife by the court.

BLOWN TO ATOMS

Two Men Killed When Nitro-Glycerine Explodes

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio — (Associated Press) — Two men believed to be oil well shooters, were blown to atoms and three houses on the outskirts of Wellsville were rocked early today when nitro-glycerine being transported by automobile exploded.

The men are believed to have been from Jewett, Ohio, as on a card found in a piece of clothing was written "James Kane, oil shooter, Jewett, Ohio." Pieces of the bodies were picked up a thousand yards from the scene of the explosion.

A woman and her two children, asleep in the home of John Thomas, narrowly escaped serious injury when a section of the house caved in as a result of the concussion. The homes of Edward James and Edward Thomas also were damaged. Authorities believe the nitro-glycerine car was being driven to Jewett.

WASHINGTON.—The coal strike situation and particularly the mine disorders in southern Illinois was understood to have largely occupied the attention of the cabinet, at today's meeting. LIMA PHYSICIAN IS HONORED

Medical Academy Awards Dr. P. J. Stueber High Degree

Dr. Paul J. Stueber, offices W. North-st, has been honored by the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Oto-Laryngology, by having conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Ophthalmology, it was announced, Friday.

He is the only physician in Lima to win the degree.

The honor represents one of the highest that can be conferred by the academy. Thirteen physicians were awarded the honor, it was reported. The board of governors of the academy confer the degree after thoroughly examining candidates. Offices of the academy are in Washington, D. C. The examination which resulted in the conferring of the degree upon Stueber, was held some time ago in Philadelphia.

Ophthalmology is the study and treatment of diseases of the eye. Oto-Laryngology is the study and treatment of diseases of the ear, nose and throat. Dr. Stueber has been specializing in these two subjects since his graduation from the University of Michigan Medical school at Ann Arbor, in 1912.

TWO FOUND GUILTY

Chicago Pugilist, Taxi Driver Convicted of Murder

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — William (Baffor) Friedman, pugilist, and William P. (Red) Cohen, taxicab driver, were convicted of murder and sentenced to fourteen years each in the penitentiary this morning before Judge John R. Caverly.

David Edelman, brother-in-law of Judge Joseph Schulman, and Max Miller, brother of Hirsche Miller, were found not guilty.

The men were tried for the killing of Abe Rubin, who was shot April 9. Friedman claimed his sister had been insulted.

"Is that the judgment for taking care of my sister?" Friedman cried to the jurors, tears streaming down his face.

Several women became hysterical and Friedman's sister fainted, throwing the court into a tumult.

Rubin was an accidental victim of the shooting. The state charged that Friedman and his companions intended to kill Charles Hadesman. The defendants all denied that they fired any shots.

BRITISH OFFICIALS DEATH MARKED

(By ED. L. KEEN.)

LONDON. — (United Press.) — Other prominent British officials, including Lloyd George, have been marked for assassination by an Irish rebel murder ring, the police believe today, from disclosures following the murder of Sir Henry Wilson, Ulster defense chief.

The London police have captured sensational documents disclosing a conspiracy to kill several prominent personages, as well as plans for a campaign of outrages throughout England.

The inquest into Sir Henry Wilson's murder will be held Monday. The slayers of the famous field marshal were given a preliminary hearing in Westminster police court today and were remanded for a week.

Three actors led the police and military authorities to suspect that Wilson's death may have been only the first blow of a widespread murder plot against opponents of republican Ireland. These were:

1—Discovery of a quantity of arms and ammunition, including hand grenades and gelignite in a house within a stone's throw of Eaton Square, where Sir Henry Wilson was shot down.

2—Evidence of 16 men and a woman, arrested for questioning last night.

STORIES OF WITNESSES

Stories of witnesses to the shooting of Wilson agree that apparent accomplices of the assassins were in the neighborhood and attempted to divert the chase following the murder.

It was authoritatively stated today that the assassins, James O'Brien and James O'Connell, operated in conjunction with a large organization. Both were connected with the Irish republican army, in what capacity was not made clear.

O'Connell had been employed as a night watchman at Richmond House Terrace, the government buildings just opposite the entrance to Downing-st on which Lloyd George's residence is located. Both murders, it was said, were planned by Crodon, near the air-drome, for some time.

HOUSES MARKED

LONDON.—(Associated Press.)—The assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson has stirred England to the depths. Mingled with feelings of sorrow and dismay are apprehensions of further outrages. It was said, indeed, that members of parliament have been threatened.

While the actual murderers were taken red-handed, a strenuous hunt for possible instigators of the crime is being conducted and, detectives last night raided all the known haunts of Sinn Feiners in London.

In connection with the arrest of a Sinn Fein plot, a statement is made that certain houses, including the Wilson residence, have been mysteriously marked recently and the home of Lord Carson in Eaton Place was guarded by armed police last night.

Field Marshal Wilson, it is learned, had received threatening letters for some time from anonymous and other sources but he paid no heed to them.

SAFEGUARDS PLANNED

The question of again arming the police with automatic pistols is being considered by the government and Scotland Yard in view of the tragedy. At the time of the outbreak of incendiarism in London and elsewhere throughout England only a few months ago, the police were so armed but with the dawning of prospects for peace in Ireland and the cessation of the outrage campaign here the pistols were withdrawn.

Efforts to trace the crime to the instigation of any special persons or parties in Ireland has not succeeded.

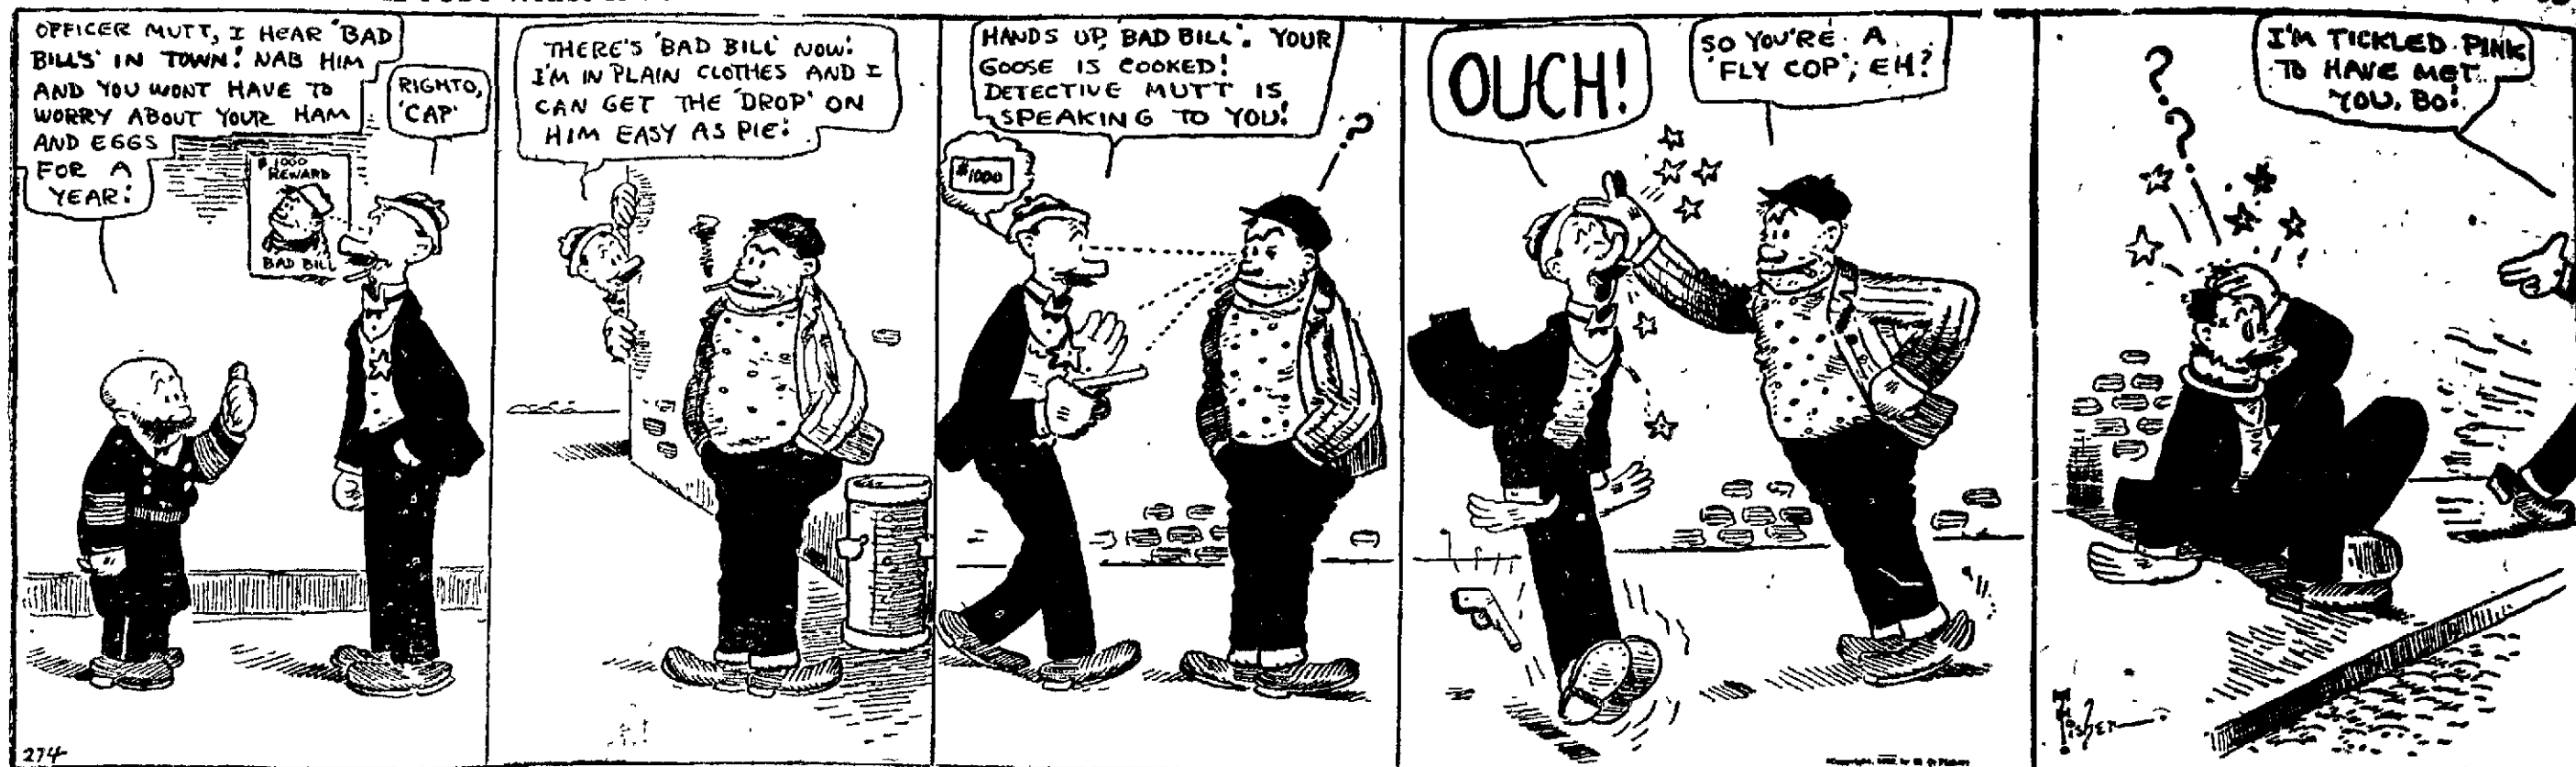

In Ulster it seems to be with taken for granted that the Irish Republican army was responsible but no proof is offered and General Owen O'Duffy's denial stands unchallenged.

The Irish chief of staff also told inquirers that the fact use of the Irish republicans carried a copy of the Irish Republican paper, the paper was without significance as the paper has been on sale in public book stores.

All reports from Ireland indicate that the murder has produced an ugly feeling among law-abiding citizens. The Belfast correspondent of the Times telegraphs his paper that if the assumption that the Sinn Fein was responsible shall prove correct, the situation will immediately become one of extreme gravity. Popular opinion is already inflamed, he says, the feeling along the border being more excited than in Belfast.

Gene Lippincott, county prosecutor, tells this one on a fellow prosecutor of another county: His friend had his shoes shined in the penitentiary barber shop at Columbus.

"What brought you here?" he asked the shoe-shiner. And the convict answered, "Two wives."

"What place were you sent down from?" continued the lawyer. "You ought to know," was the answer. "You're the prosecutor who sent me."

Ed Cohn records his impressions of a card game in which a methodical gentleman was banker. He kept a detailed record on paper of every purchase made of him. This, he explained, was so there would be no mistake. "The only mistake he made," she said, "was to try to collect a second time from all whose names were on his list."

Mrs. Eva Creps says she thinks girls who serve at church suppers shouldn't wear beaded dresses. The beads come off so when the breads break. "I found six beads in the bottom of my soup plate," she says, "and I don't know how many I ate."

Joe Kaufman has moved his family to a cottage along the lake. He says he understands the lake flies will be troublesome. But he depends on wire screens to keep them out.

"The flies can't be so bad as some I stood for in Canada," he says. "Some of those were equipped with pincers to cut holes in the screen."

MYSTERY SPOTS WHERE RADIO CANNOT PENETRATE

(BY PAUL F. GODLEY)
America's Foremost Radio Authority

WITH electric waves, as with light waves, there are certain objects which cast shadows.

A radio receiving station which chances to be in one of these shadows will no more receive the radio signals than will the eye of an observer if he is shadowed from a source of light.

In some cases the cause of radio shadows has been traced. But in many instances, the causes are still unknown.

Overn-going vessels carrying comparatively high power telegraphic transmitters find great difficulty in communicating 50 miles across certain portions of Long Island. No one knows why.

The broadcasting station at Newark, N. J., is seldom satisfactorily received in Atlantic City, where clear signals are heard from the station at Pittsburgh, several hundred miles away. Yet the power of the two stations is practically the same!

STEEL STRUCTURES

In large cities, a group of steel buildings frequently casts radio shadows that make it difficult to receive signals of any character from points in the direction of these buildings. Sometimes mountains may have the same effect, although finding great difficulty in effecting a reception of radio signals from distant points.

Vessels plying up and down the Amazon River are seldom able to many cases they have no effect at all.

Recently a series of tests were carried out on board a moving train of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. The operators in charge stated that in some cases, even when passing thru a deep cut, there would be no noticeable effect whatever on the strength of the received signals, while at other times, even a small hill seemed to throw a decided shadow.

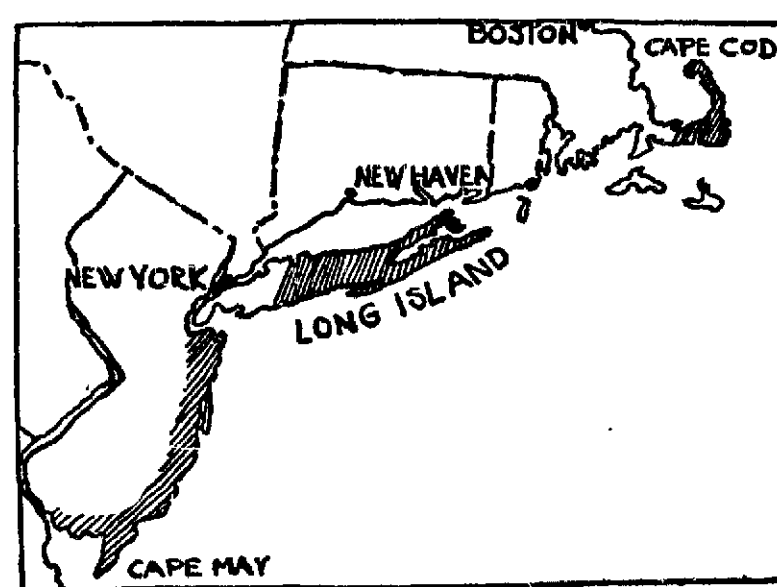

It is quite likely that the geological formations have something to do with these "dead spots." Their existence has been known for many years. But it is only of late that any definite effort has been made to explore them.

FORESTS, when in leaf, tend to absorb radio energy. Stations planted in the heart of a thick woods communicate with each other over distances greater than 25 or 30 miles, although their normal daytime range is 250 miles.

A large radio company recently undertook the exploration of the Atlantic coast in an effort to locate places which are shadowed in all directions except seaward. Several such points were located. Large stations for the communication with ships at sea will probably be erected there.

Such stations would be shielded from interfering effects produced in inland directions.

Some day we may be able to fully understand the causes of radio shadows and find out how to master them.

OAKLAND, Cal. — The largest wedding attendance in the west, and perhaps in the United States, is claimed by Leland Hodgson of Sausalito, and his bride who was Miss Vivian Kidd, Santa Rosa "rose queen."

Guests at their wedding ceremony they say, amounted to 250,000! How's that?

Why, the guest, "attended" by radio!

The newly weds were married at the Rockridge broadcasting station here, by the Rev. H. A. Van Winkle.

The solemn notes of the wedding march came over the ether waves from a cathedral several miles away, where a sending outfit had been specially constructed. The ceremony took place between two giant microphones leading to the broadcasting apparatus.

At the same time the 250,000 guests "tuned in" and held radio wedding parties in their own homes.

Youngstown Man Meets Death With Smile

LUMBUS — (Associated Press) — thought murmuring a word Myeski, 22, of Youngstown, in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary early today for his part in murder of sixteen-year-old Korn, near Youngstown, September 1, 1921.

His unflinching step and head body erect, Myeski went through proceedings, preparatory to his execution as the he had been drilled in.

GOOD TO PRAY
Myeski apparently was in no mood at all, as is usually the case in a few minutes of a condemned man. The only movements of his from the time he entered the chamber until the black mask was placed over his head was a faint which crossed his countenance and after he sat down in the few hours before his death, in a sworn confession admitted guilt, and pleaded for "reluctance" for his accomplices in murder. His statements to the jury along this line were sharply directed at Charles Mar, now serving life in the penitentiary for his participation in the crime.

In addition, he said, a "Rev. Father" had ordered him and Myeski to "take the girl out and her" her Kozmiski, Myeski said, "he had been a frequent visitor at her house, he said.

THE MURDER
According to evidence in the case, Mar and Myeski took the girl to the country about three miles, where they beat her and fractured her arm and abandoned her along with Myeski said Marcovitz beat her against his protest. She died 36 hours after being found. He said that it was not fair that he should pay the death penalty, state official who considered his case declared the murder one of the most brutal on record in the history of the state.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. — (Associated Press) — Two men were killed, a deputy sheriff suffered a broken arm and a dozen other persons received minor injuries when a mob attacked an interurban traction car carrying non-union miners and officers of the Hudson Coal Company, guarded by deputy sheriffs, from this city to the Lewis mine, near Reynoldsville, this morning.

The mob stopped the car, pulled off the trolley and swarmed aboard. Two of the attacking party were shot as they crawled thru windows.

SITUATION IN ILLINOIS
HERRIN, Ill. — (Associated Press) — Herrin today remained quiet after the wild disorders of yesterday in which at least twenty-seven men were killed and an unknown number wounded when 6,000 union miners and sympathizers attacked approximately half a hundred imported steam shovel men and laborers working on the Lester strip pit of the Southern Illinois Coal Company.

County officials maintained that since no one remained at work in the strip pit that of itself was a guarantee against further outbreaks and asserted the 1,000 members of the Illinois national guard ordered to mobilize in Chicago for possible duty here were unnecessary.

An inquest into the carnage wrought by the miners and their supporters, when influenced by moonshine whiskey and angered at the efforts of the strip pit workers, they broke down at dawn on the huddled group, was set for today. However, until late last night, no official step to investigate the affair had been taken, no grand jury had been summoned and no arrest had been made.

OPEN BOASTS
Miners in Herrin streets openly boasted that they participated in the infliction of deaths by gunfire, hanging and dragging thru the streets a veritable Roman holiday, but there was no action against them.

That today would bring official action of some kind was undoubted. That this action would bring little in the way of results was the prediction of most every one in touch with the situation.

The order of Governor Small last night to hold 1,000 men of the militia in readiness in Chicago was greeted on the street, here with sarcastic comment. A member of the police force told the correspondent that if troops were sent here, he would "take the night police force and clean them out." Inquiry developed that he himself was the night police force.

THREATS MADE
The request of the governor for an official report brought more sarcasm, the gist of which seemed to be that there was nothing to report officially.

ACCUSED DOCTOR

ATLANTA, Ga. — Shown here is Dr. J. G. Saggus, the Washington, Ga., physician accused of poisoning his first wife and Charles W. Willbanks, an old friend whose widow he married a few months later.

Willbanks and the first Mrs. Saggus' bodies have been disinterred for examination.

BABIES BURNED, NURSES CLAIM

Sensational Charges Made Against Syracuse Sanitarium

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (United Press) — Investigation is under way by police here today of charges that bodies of new born babies were burned in the yard of a local sanitarium.

The charges were made by Miss Margaret A. Weaver, 22, a student nurse employed at the sanitarium. She was supported in her statements by Miss Elizabeth Estelle Metcalf, 18, another student nurse.

Mrs. Violetta A. Lott, 53, who runs the sanitarium, and her son, George Lott, were detained at police headquarters over night and were still held today, pending further investigation of the strange story told by the two girls.

QUARREL ADMITTED
No charge has been filed against them. Both deny the assertions of the student nurses, who admit they quarreled with Mrs. Lott before making the allegations.

Two patients died at the sanitarium while Miss Weaver worked there, she said.

The cause of death of one was given in the Syracuse newspapers at the time as appendicitis. Coroner Crane today stated he believed this woman died of peritonitis, following an operation.

Mrs. Lott denied an allegation by Miss Metcalf that this woman shortly before her death, took out an insurance policy in her favor.

NEW COURTHOUSE IS ADVOCATED

W. H. Duffield Urges Sale of Present Site on Main-st

Deplores Spending More Money on Old Structure

Sale of the Allen-co court house and location of a new building outside the business district, is suggested by William H. Duffield, banker and large property owner, as a solution of the problem of raising funds for a new structure.

He believes that it is possible to realize enough from sale of the present site to buy farther out and practically put up a new building without necessity of bond issue.

Proceeds of the sale of the property, plus $75,000 to $100,000 planned for expenditures for repairs on the old building, Duffield believes, would amount to close to a half million dollars.

Besides, the county would have the salvage of the building.

Another suggestion made by Duffield is that the city and county sell all property in the business district, and join in the construction of one building.

This is being done in Toledo, he says, and has been done in Chicago. Duffield does not believe it wise to spend more money on the present obsolete structure.

Action should be taken now, it is stated, before the city grows larger and property values increase within easy walking distance from Main-st.

VALUE NOT FIXED
Real estate men would not place a definite value on the frontage occupied by the court house, but it is believed to be worth not less than $1,500 a front foot. It might be worth $2,000. The site is 200 feet square. From $300,000 to $400,000 might be realized from its sale.

County commissioners were sounded on the matter. While they admitted some thing of the sort might be practical, Commissioner John Thompson, stated sale of the ground would have to be authorized by a vote of the people.

He doubted if such a proposal would carry.

JUNE CASTLETON VANISHES

BOSTON — June Castleton, has vanished, leaving behind her parents and to Dan Caswell. June is a member of the "Sally" company—or was, until she spoke openly of her high regard for Dan Caswell.

Caswell is a Cleveland and heir to a considerable fortune. He married Jessie Reed of the "Follies" a year or so ago, after a courtship that warmed the hearts of Broadway.

The fires of romance soon burned themselves out, however, and Dan and Jessie parted.

But Dan kept up his friendship with other members of the Ziegfeld productions, being especially nice to Miss Castleton.

In consequence the manager of the "Sally" company—which has been having unpleasant times in Boston—gave Miss Castleton notice.

Then she vanished.

WASHINGTON—The coal strike situation and particularly the mine disorders in southern Illinois was understood to have largely occupied the attention of the cabinet at today's meeting. Secretary of Labor Davis conferred with President Harding for some time after the meeting and it was indicated that the department of labor would have a statement to make soon with regard to the mine disorders.

SLANDER CHARGED TO MASSMAN
Balm amounting to $5,000 to soothe her injured feelings and good name is demanded by Mary McGregor, in a suit for slander filed against Ralph Massman, 1073 W. Market-st, in common pleas court, Friday.

Massman is manager of a dry cleaning establishment, owned by R. C. Massman, his father, on N. West-st.

The plaintiff is said to have formerly been employed in a restaurant operated by Ray Kinsey, 215 1-2 E. North-st. She testified in criminal court recently, regarding Honor seized by the police in a raid on the place.

BRITISH OFFICIALS DEATH MARKED

(By ED. L. KEEN.)
LONDON. — (United Press.) — Other prominent British officials, including Lloyd George, have been marked for assassination by an Irish rebel murder ring, the police believe today, from disclosures following the murder of Sir Henry Wilson, Ulster defense chief.

The London police have captured sensational documents disclosing a conspiracy to kill several prominent personages, as well as plans for a campaign of outrages throughout England.

The inquest into Sir Henry Wilson's murder will be held Monday.

The slayers of the famous field marshal were given a preliminary hearing in Westminster police court today and were remanded for a week.

Three actors led the police and military authorities to suspect that Wilson's death may have been only the first blow of a widespread murder plot against opponents of republican Ireland. These were:

2—Evidence of 16 men and a woman, arrested for questioning last night.

STORIES OF WITNESSES
Stories of witnesses to the shooting of Wilson agree that apparent accomplices of the assassins were in the neighborhood and attempted to divert the chase following the murder.

It was authoritatively stated today that the assassins, James O'Brien and James O'Connell operated in conjunction with a large organization. Both were connected with the Irish republican army, in what capacity was not made clear.

O'Connell had been employed as a night watchman at Richmond House, Terrace, the government buildings just opposite the entrance to Downing-st on which Lloyd George's residence is located. Both murderers, it was said, resided at Croydon, near the airfield, for some time.

HOUSES MARKED
LONDON. — (Associated Press.) — The assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson has stirred England to the depths. Mingled with feelings of sorrow and dismay are apprehensions of further outrages, as it is understood members of parliament have been threatened.

While the actual murderers were taken red-handed, a strenuous hunt for possible instigators of the crime is being conducted and detectives last night raided all the known haunts of Sinn Feiners in London. In connection with the reports of a Sinn Fein plot, the statement is made that certain houses, including the Wilson residence, have been mysteriously marked recently and the home of Lord Carson in Eaton Place was guarded by armed police last night.

The honor represents one of the highest that can be conferred by the academy. Thirteen physicians were awarded the honor, it was reported. The board of governors of the academy confer the degree after thoroughly examining candidates. Offices of the academy are in Washington, D. C. The examination which resulted in the conferring of the degree upon Stueber, was held some time ago in Philadelphia.

Ophthalmology is the study and treatment of diseases of the eye. Oto-Laryngology is the study and treatment of diseases of the ear, nose and throat. Dr. Stueber has been specializing in these two subjects since his graduation from the University of Michigan Medical school at Ann Arbor, in 1912.

FINAL ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE IS BEFORE COMMISSION

POWER PROBLEM NEAR SOLUTION

Survey is Made by Mayor, Commission and Manager

BOARD WILL ACT TONIGHT

Proposed Street Railway Franchise to Come Up

Response to the inquiries of the city commission among Lima business men, as to the attitude of consumers to the light and power rates proposed by the Ohio Power Co., have been very satisfactory. Mayor Harold Cunningham said Friday.

A survey of the entire situation here has been made by the mayor, members of the commission and C. A. Bingham, city manager. It has shown that power users are in favor of the proposed rates even though increases are noted in some classes, Cunningham says.

SURVEY IS MADE

A number of consumers using a medium amount of power were visited Thursday and Friday. In all but two instances the increase would be between two and three per cent. The two exceptions showed an increase to nearly 10 per cent, he said.

Availability of electric power for Lima in quantities great enough to supply will present and future needs of the city are placed above any minor increases in rates which may be noted by the small number affected, the Mayor was told.

It is planned to consider all rates thoroughly at a meeting of the commission Friday night. No formal action is expected to be taken, but it is believed by officials that informal approval or rejection will be made.

In order that the power company may know how things stand, rates to be considered are as follows: Regular power, first 50 kilowatts, eight cents; next 150, 7.5 cents; next 250, seven cents; next 350, six cents; next 450, five cents; next 550, four cents; and the next 1,500 or more, three cents.

Electric signs and display: 1-4 cents per watt per month where the light is on from dusk to midnight and 1-3-4 cents per watt per month for all-night burning.

Battery charging: five and a half cents per kilowatt hour, with a minimum charge of $2 per month.

Small power rate: first 50 kilowatts, eight cents; next 100, 7.75 cents; next 150, six cents; next 450, 4.75 cents; next 10,000, four cents; next 15,000, three cents; next 17,500, two cents; and the next 43,250, 1.5 cents.

Wholesale power rates will be divided into primary and secondary rates and will range from seven cents a kilowatt down to 1.11 cents a kilowatt hour.

Factories having their own transformers and equipment, usually furnished by the power company, will receive credits on their monthly bills for the equipment.

No installations here will have to be changed because of the bringing in of this power. Substations will transform it into any form desired by local power users, the commission has been told.

"Every class of power user in the city has been interviewed and we are positive that 92 per cent of the consumers will have their rates lowered and the eight per cent will suffer only a two or three per cent increase," Mayor Cunningham said.

A proposed street railway franchise will also be considered at the Friday meeting. It is believed that the installation of one-man cars and the improvement of the property will enable the lines to be run at a profit.

An unnamed company has offered to rehabilitate the local lines if they will receive a 25 year franchise from the city. Rates will be amendable every five years, however.

OPERATIONS FOR TWO.

Elizabeth and Catherine Smith, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith, of E. High-st, were subjected to operations for the removal of tonsils and adenoids, Thursday.

GOVERNMENT OF BRITAIN SHAKEN

Collapse Threatened as Result of Wilson Murder

LONDON—(Associated Press)—Questions put in the house of commons today to members of the government with regard to the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson constituted one of the most damaging demonstrations against the government that it has experienced, according to opinion in the lobby.

The view was expressed there that had it been possible to debate the subject the existence of the government would have been seriously in question.

It had been decided, however, to defer debate until Monday. Government supporters expect by that time opinion will be less inflamed and the cabinet ministers will then be in possession of the whole facts in the case.

Austen Chamberlain, the government leader, is said by those who were near him as he was questioned to have grown pale under the fire of interrogation and a bad impression was created by his statement that police protection had been withdrawn from the cabinet ministers and other prominent men in England when the position with regard to Ireland was believed to have improved.

The government leader's answers, however, were generally more favorably received than those of Home Secretary Shortt, who replied to some of the questioners.

Secretary Shortt said no information had been received that Field Marshal Wilson's life was in danger. Upon this Colonel Martin Archer-Shee declared he had seen a letter sent to Scotland Yard regarding the field marshal. He indignantly called on Mr. Shortt to resign.

Mr. Shortt reiterated that Scotland Yard had no knowledge that the field marshal's life was endangered. The questioners displayed the greatest heat, making accusations as to the "supineness of the authorities."

Flanders-Av Not The Poppy Field, Keller Discovers

Land Yard had no knowledge that the field marshal's life was endangered.

Jangling of the telephone bell, a few brusque words by the desk sergeant and a sharp command sent Motorcycle Cop Bill Keller on a bee-line to Flanders-av, east of Jefferson-st, Thursday night.

"Loud noises. Sounds like somebody getting murdered," Bill repeated snatches of the conversation as he sped along.

"Appropriate name for a street to stage a battle. Flanders. Where'd I hear that name. Oh, yes, Flanders in Belgium, that's where the poppies grow."

The noise burst upon Keller as he neared the scene, but instead of blood and thunder, he saw a circle of youths about a house industriously awakening the echoes.

"Somebody gettin' killed? Where'd you get that stuff. Why, man, we're boiling," a washtub-ladenurchin informed him.

Bill retreated in good order. His report at headquarters said: "Another pair has stood before Hymen's altar. It required a lot of nerve to tell the kids to cut it out."

Carl, Jasper, Mo., a brother, Joseph Sutton, Alberta, Can., and a half brother, Henry Sunderland, Jasper, Mo. Sutton was a member of the Waynesfield, Ohio, Masonic lodge.

He will be buried in Woodlawn.

ADMIT CHARGE OF NON SUPPORT

Ex-sailor Under Bond; One Decision Withheld

Two alleged erring husbands, haled into court by their irate mates, pleaded guilty on charges of non-support, when arraigned before Judge Fred C. Becker in common pleas court, Friday.

Forest Faulder, Delphos benedict who has failed to foot the bills for wife and the kiddies, admitted his guilt to the court.

He was picked up at Delphos, Thursday night, by Sheriff Charles W. Baxter, in the west side of the county. He was brought to Lima and lodged in jail. Judge Becker has not disposed of the case.

Minor C. King, ex-sailor, also pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife. King sent his wife an allotment from the navy until a year ago, when it was stopped, it is said. He was placed under $500 bond, after promising to pay his wife an allowance.

Henry Nelson, alias Nelson Edington, Auglaize-co farmer, indicted by the grand jury for poultry theft, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in common pleas court.

WARMER, WARMS WEATHER MAN

Having succeeded in presenting the city with a spell of relief from the torpid heat of last week, the weather man smiles naively, yawns a bit and announces that it is going to be warmer, Friday.

The first alarm came at 10:30 a. m. While a mechanic from a nearby garage was working on a car belonging to Tom Bradley, W. Market-st., developed a short circuit. A small flame resulted and somebody doused a bucketful of water over it before flames arrived.

Sparks from a chimney set fire to the Harrison property and several shingles were burned off. Loss was slight. The last alarm came at 12:30 p. m.

LAYCOCK APPEALS FINE METED OUT TO HIM BY BOTKIN ON WET CHARGE

Appeal from a decision by Justice of the Peace E. M. Botkin, fining him $300 for illegal possession of liquor, was filed in common pleas court, Friday, by Cad Laycock.

Laycock was arrested by state enforcement officers in a house on E. Pierce-st. Laycock is said to have kicked a jug containing a fluid thought to be liquor out of a policeman's hands, at the time.

Justice Botkin found him guilty on evidence presented by the state detectives, who were hired for liquor investigations by City Manager Clarence Bingham.

Ranks Earl With Leaders of Auto Industry

Bert Cobb, one of America's foremost cartoonists, who is preparing a series of cartoons of "Captains of the Automobile Industry," has placed Clarence A. Earl, president of Earl Motors, Inc., Jackson, Michigan, the compliment of giving him third place on the list of executives whose likenesses he will reproduce. Mr. Cobb's series of cartoons are being sent to newspapers in all parts of the country and are arousing considerable interest in automobile circles. By placing Mr. Earl third, Mr. Cobb ranks him as one of the three foremost men in the motor car industry today; and Mr. Cobb's opinion is one to carry weight.

Something of the prestige that attaches itself to Mr. Earl is reflected in the Earl car. As automobiles go, the Earl is comparatively a new car; and yet its reputation in all parts of the United States, Canada and in foreign countries has been such that the Earl stands today as one of the really great motor cars of the time.

It Takes The Female To Do The Biting

The warm summer night post buzzing about the cars or sinking a wicked rapier into a particularly vulnerable sector of the epidermis—is it a bold, bad, villainous male of the genus culex?

It is not. The male of the mosquito race is a putty-like, he-flapper, who dresses up his proboscis in ruffles. He couldn't sink his bill into anything as soft as an old duffer making love at 80.

But the female, aye, there's the villainess. Take it from H. J. Ridge, county farm agent. The female "has slender antennae (sounds like a wireless discussion, but don't you believe it) and a set of needle-like apparatus in the proboscis with which it punctures the skin and sucks the blood," Ridge says.

All those who have been so punctured will please stand.

Here then is brought to light for the first time the very unchivalrous conduct of the civilized world toward a lady mosquito.

Kindness and restraint toward woman, even when it's all masculine flesh and blood can do to keep from violence, always has been one of the beautiful pictures of the christian era.

Brute men have been swatting this coquettish woman and supping her advances.

Is knighthood in flower or is it in wait and itchy hums where the female of the genus culex has left her kisses? She can't help it. It's the way she gets her dinner.

Let this be threshed out in Judge Emmet J. Jackson's court. Anyway, boys, harm not an antennae on the zipping pest tho it sink its inquisitive nose into your tender skin.

For it's very ungentlemanly to strike a woman!

RAISINS ARE IDEAL WARM WEATHER FOOD

The ability of raisins to revitalize the system with almost constant energy, because of their sugar-content, makes them ideal warm weather food.

The most popular dish of the summer—ice cream—when flavored with raisins, becomes a delicious, cooling confection, and a delightful, healthful dish.

The raisins may be used simply as a garnish, or may be added to the cream after they have been cooked and cooled. The latter is perhaps the more appetizing and delicious.

RETIREES ON PENSION.
CLEVELAND.—After forty-six years as a teacher in Cleveland schools, Miss Katherine N. Grayell, principal of Waring school, has retired on a pension from the Cleveland board of education. Miss Grayell began teaching in 1876. She was principal of Waring school for 20 years.

MEET JUNE 28.
CALDWELL, OHIO.—The forty-seventh annual convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Cambridge District, M. E. Church, convenes here June 28 and 29.

ONE-MAN CARS PLANNED.
DAYTON.—Plans are being completed by the City Railway Company to make all street cars one-man affairs. Only a motorman will be in charge of a car. Passengers will enter and pay at the front door, and leave at the rear door.

FUND INCREASED.
CLEVELAND.—County Auditor Zangerle has announced that the city's sinking fund has been increased to $195,289, to take care of proposed improvements on the Mall.

BRACELETS
In Paris women are wearing large numbers of bracelets, particularly on the upper arm. Snake bracelets are the most popular. Often they are studded with brilliant gems of the semi-precious variety.

FROM POIRET
A smart frock which bears Poiret's signature is of orange and white crepe georgette, heavily embroidered in white silk, with an elaborate girde of twisted blue and orange silk.

ALL BLACK
In Paris women are appearing garbed in all black on the street, but for country and informal wear they have brought out the most colorful attire. They are making considerable use of lace, soft and adapted to modern styles.

THEY'RE THEIR OWN BOSSES

Ben Bishop (with the glasses) and George Fountain, shown in the accompanying picture, are hands in the shingle mill in the background. It's their mill, too — partly, at least.

The mill's at Blaine, Washington. Seven years ago it was idle, due to a strike and other troubles. The workers were idle, as well.

Getting together, they took over the plant. They owned it, and worked in it, likewise. Run co-operatively, the business had its ups and downs. The downs came first. It was a hard struggle. Some of the men, banded together as the Blaine Manufacturing Company, dropped out discouraged. But others stuck.

During the war and for a time after it, the enterprise had its ups. The shareholders made so much money that they were solely tempted to splurge. They kept their heads, however, and the result was, when times grew hard again, that the company was able to weather them easily. Now they are picking up once more.

Everybody works. George Johnson, the president, is manager. The vice president files saws. The drag saw's operated by the secretary-treasurer. Bishop and Fountain, prominent stockholders, pack shingles. Nobody can afford to loaf. It would come out of their own pockets if they did.

SCHOOL SURVEY PLANNED.
ZANESVILLE.—Frank L. Packard, Columbus architect, has been employed by the Zanesville board of education to make a survey of school needs of the city.

FOR FALL.
Among the colors for fall brown promises to take first rank. Black will be stylish, but will not have such a monopoly as at the present time and it will be livened up with brighter colors.

MRS. HARDING'S GOWN.
At a recent garden party Mrs. Warren G. Harding appeared in a gown of white chiffon trimmed with black silk insertion, and jet ornaments. A corsage of tiny reddish pink and brown flowers was worn at her belt.

FUR BEACH SUITS—THEY'RE REALLY WEARING 'EM!

BY MARIAN HALE
We have with us today the modern version of the ancient cavewoman. She lives not in a cave, but on the beach. Recently some designer, a furrier, we suspect, realized the picturesqueness of the prehistoric woman's garb, and has used it as a model for the season's sartorial sensation—the fur bathing suit!

Under a coat of fur on a hot day or swim in weather so cold as to warrant one is beyond me. But the hand in hand.

At a fashionable beach, not many miles from New York, living models parade the beach each day, wearing fur bathing suits.

These are cut on the popular lines of the silk or wool variety and are made up in the popular furs of the season.

Ermine, which is not nearly so costly as it used to be, is very fashionable. Sometimes it is combined with seal, the combination of black and white against the blue sky and water, being greatly admired.

Some snappy little suits of leopard skin, made up very much like ballet costumes with a bodice and shoulder straps, are very reasonable—only a hundred dollars.

Moleskin lends itself admirably to the season's modes. So does squirrel and kolinsky.

Six or eight hundred dollars will buy you a very nifty little suit if you stick to medium-priced furs, but if you have sable leanings, then there's no limit to what you can spend.

But what would the original cavewomen have got if she had handed the family funds so casually?

TASTY SUMMER DISHES MADE WITH RAISINS
Plain, everyday foods take on a new wholesomeness with the addition of raisins, and housewives have discovered that they can popularize many plain foods by the addition of raisins. At the same time rendering the food more beneficial and healthful.

Raisin bread, served either plain or as sandwiches, makes a dainty hot weather food. The luscious sauce formed from the sugar of the raisins when they are baked in a loaf of bread permeates the dough with the rich, raisin flavor. And its ability to replenish tired people on a warm day will surprise you.

LIMA MEN BOOST NEW BODY

Affiliate With National Motorists' Association

HOME FROM CHICAGO MEET

Old Organization Degenerates Into Race Club

The Lima Auto Club is one of many hundreds of motor organizations in more than a score of states which has affiliated with the National Motorists' association, formed in Chicago during the present week. Joe C. Hartline, Joe T. Kaufman and James I. Heffner, delegates from the Lima club have returned home full of enthusiasm for the new organization.

"We haven't cut loose entirely from the A. A. A." Hartline stated, "and we have no fight with them. We simply believe that the old organization has ceased to be a benefit to the average car owner."

"What is wanted is an organization which will work in the interests of the man with a flivver, as well as the man with a Rolls-Royce."

ACTION NEEDED
Motorists today need someone to stand for new laws, to stop obstructive legislation, to develop better roads and assist in other ways. The Lima delegates believe that the N. M. A. will do this.

In recent years they state the A. A. A. has degenerated into a racing organization, the sole aim of which is to promote championship matches at various points in the country.

Considerable money for advertising and privileges accrued from these speed events. Nothing was done for the ordinary motorist, save take a portion of his dues, it is stated.

A break between the A. A. A. officials and independent delegates occurred recently in St. Louis, where insurgents bolted and took the initial steps to form a new organization.

500 BACK TO JOBS
COLUMBUS — Announcement was made by Hocking Valley railroad officials that 200 men will be ordered back to work at the Logan car shops July 5, and that 300 workers will be added to the track force July 1.

PROTEST FILED
TOLEDO — City Law Director Dotson filed protest of the valuation of the Bell Telephone Company properties in Toledo with the Ohio public utilities commission.

BINGHAM WANTS QUICK ACTION
Writes County Commissioners Again, for Aid on Bridges

Renewed demands for action by the county commissioners in the matter of paving the Elm and Pine-st bridges, were communicated by letter to the county board, Friday, by C. A. Bingham, city manager.

Manager Bingham visited the board some time ago, requesting that the commission proceed with the work on the two bridges. At that time he was informed that the county had nothing to do with Pine-st bridge. There is a resolution, however, appropriating $18,000 for paving Elm-st bridge.

Manager Bingham opens his letter by expressing regret that he has to be continually writing the board. The communication then goes on to say in part:

"The object of this letter is to again request whether the county commissioners cannot co-operate with us in paving Elm and Pine-st bridges and the necessary approaches where the grade is changed."

Bingham also calls attention to delays in the matter.

The resolution, members of the commission state, calls for $18,000 for Elm-st bridge. Pine-st bridge is not mentioned.

Surveys on the Elm-st portion are being made by County Surveyor Walter R. Toy. Whatever work is done must be supervised by Toy, according to law.

Commissioners hold that they have no power to use county money on Pine-st, as the thoroughfare is not a county road. Elm-st, however, falls in this class.

SCIENCE CLAIMS STIR THINKERS

Set Up Against Religion by Orator at Harvard

ADVANCED AS MORAL GUIDE

Views Opposed by Several Prominent Writers

By NEA SERVICE
BOSTON (Special) — Can right and wrong be determined by test tube and microscope?

Shall moral laws of the future be written from data compiled in the laboratory of the scientist instead of from ancient ethical traditions handed down in sacred books?

The suggestion that morals be taken from the field of religion and placed in the domain of science, advanced by Professor William Morris Davis, Phi Beta Kappa orator at the Harvard commencement, has stirred up nationwide discussion and has become a center of conflicting opinions.

Thru NEA Service The Lima News presents today opinions of prominent scientists, clergymen and leaders of thought on Davis' suggestion.
This is the passage in the professor's address which has aroused the discussion.

"Just as surely as all questions of a geological or astronomical or evolutionary nature have now been permanently taken over from religion by their respective sciences, so conquest will be made of all questions concerning right and wrong by that division of science which concerns itself with the natural history of goodness as a matter of purely human experience in contrast to goodness as a matter of supernatural revelation.

"Two great and growing, the still young, branches of modern science will contribute powerfully to this conquest: they are eugenics and psychiatry."

Every shade of opinion, favorable and adverse, is reflected in the statements of nationally and internationally known leaders of thought that have been gathered.

The Rev. John A. Ryan, professor of moral theology and industrial ethics, Catholic University of America, Washington, says:

"Professor Davis believes science will take possession of ethics and reduce it to a history of human goodness. The professor confounds 'is' with 'ought.' He forgets history can tell us only what men have done, not what they ought to do. History can provide no standard of right, no distinction between right and wrong.
Eugenics and psychiatry may forecast certain effects; they cannot determine the moral quality of these effects. No physical science can disclose ethical standards or yield ethical judgments. The mental confusion betrayed by Professor Davis is a pathetic refutation of his thesis.
It indicates that the physical scientist should let ethics alone; that the shoemaker should stick to his last."

Lothrop Stoddard, author of "The Rising Tide of Color" and "The Revolt Against Civilization":

"When Professor Davis proclaimed the application of science to ethics he uttered a message of good cheer for our troublous times. Science is our pole star. It is alike our guide for the present and our hope for the future. What distinguishes our civilization from past civilizations is scientific knowledge and the scientific spirit. To us have been revealed secrets of life our forebears never knew. And to us has been vouchsafed a passion for truth such as the world has never seen. This quenchless love of truth, this spirit of science which combines knowledge and faith in the synthesis of a higher wisdom, is our best promise for the cure of present ills and for the regeneration of the race."

Charles P. Steinmetz, inventor and scientist, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company:

"I entirely agree with Professor Davis that all questions of right and wrong belong to the field of science, where they can be intelligently studied; and not to the emotional fancies of religion. So it was in the classical civilizations of Greece and Rome. But the Persians mixed morals and religion and the Jews copied them and thus the Christians.
Every educated man, whose intelligence reaches beyond his immediate neighborhood in time and country, realizes that there are no absolute ethics, but morals are merely the product of the existing forms of society, varying with its changes, somewhat like the by-laws of a society."

Edward E. Slosson, scientist and writer on scientific topics:

"Religion and science are Siamese twins. They die if cut apart. Science often furnished clear reasons for customs which religion has for centuries inculcated and which have aided individuals and nations to survive in the struggle for existence.
The Old Testament is largely concerned with hygiene, eugenics and economics; primitive science, but the best of its time. Eugenics will remain a barren branch of science until it gets behind it a religious impulse sufficient to make men and women willing to sacrifice present and personal pleasures for distant and higher ideals. On the other hand, ministers must realize that a church wedding is not a Christian marriage if contrary to eugenic principles. Science lights the way.
Religion furnishes motive power."

Dr. Hendrik Willem Van Loon, historian and sociologist and author of "The Story of Mankind":

"Professor Davis is entirely right when he says questions of morals and goodness should be taken from religion and placed under the control of science. Religion has made a failure of the job. Let us see what science can do. Of course this would mean the end of organized religion. I realize that there are plenty of people who would like to keep religion as a sort of music in their lives. Perhaps it may remain as music but the time has come for its end as a director of human conduct."

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Slattery, D.
D., Rector Grace church (Episcopal), New York:

"Religion is inclusive. It believes that God is revealing Himself not only thru humanity, most of all thru Christ, but also thru nature and thru the observations and discoveries by modern science. Religion in its boldest aspects attempts to be guided by the deepest experiences of the race. The reason the world never has been willing to get on without religion and never will be content to get on without it, is because mere knowledge of consequences such as science teaches is not enough to bring any man to the height of his potential character."

CARS IN COLLISION
Autos driven by H. E. Lewis, 531

512 W. Market-st., collided at the Spring-Metcalf intersection Thursday night. Nobody was injured.
The cars were slightly damaged.

DO YOU PLEAD GUILTY?

Read the Indictment of Basil King, Novelist

BASIL KING (INSET) AND HIS VIEW OF THE PREDICAMENT OF THE PRESENT-DAY AMERICAN MAN.

"THE American man today is a supine creature who bows resignedly beneath the censorious dictates of any self-righteous person able to impose his interpretation of the law."

For the last 15 years, after a devoting to the study of the law, he has been writing the indictment of the American man today.

Note the quotation marks. They indicate that the sentiments did not originate with me.

These are the words of Basil
King, author, clergyman, humanitarian and student of psychic phenomena.

For the last 15 years, after a devoting to the study of the law, he has been writing the indictment of the American man today. His most recent book is "The Conquest of Fear."

And what do you suppose has made man that "supine creature?"
—prepare for the worst. Let Basil King continue:

The WOMEN are more than half responsible for this condition. Between censors and dominant women American men are becoming more and more spiritless. Women, with their enthusiasm for running things, are making the men a race of non-resistants."

All of this came out when the simple question that everyone passes around, "What's the matter with America?" was put to the novelist.

He continued: "Americans are always trying to live up to standards imposed by intolerant, self-righteous people, who confound ethics with tradition, and right with custom."

"It is really appalling to see how in the United States we acquiesce to moralists, no matter how much our personal liberty is violated."

"It is all right for people to have standards, but why should the standards of one group be imposed upon the rest, when the rest do not believe them to be right?"

"We do a lot of talking," he continued, "about the deplorable state of our stage and our literature, but we do nothing toward remedying or removing the cause."

"We are censored into mediocrity. What can censorship do but fill the authors and artists with inhibitions? Creative genius cannot thrive on repressions."

Basil King is a force in literature, and far be it from me to take up cudgels against him. But any wife might well ask herself, "Have I made a non-resistant, supine creature out of my husband?"

STATUS OF MASH IS PUZZLING QUESTION

Is mash a food or a beverage?
Sheriff Charles W. Baxter, is debating the question as a result of a raid made in search of whiskey on the farm of Charles Spayd, American-U.

Acting on information that whisky was being made on the farm and distributed, Baxter and two deputies visited the place.

Eight barrels of mash was found, Baxter says, there was no still to put it in.

"It's hog feed," asserted Spayd.
"Yes, but you can make whiskey of it," argued Baxter.

The sheriff decided that until the missing link is found, to leave the mash on the farm.

HIGH MOOSE OFFICIAL VISITS LIMA LODGE

Fred W. Jones, international grand director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, visited here today,

Jones said that he is highly pleased with the outlook in Li-

MEN BLIND TO WOMAN'S SUFFERING

How many men, think you, have any idea of the pain endured by women in their own household, and often without a murmur? They have no patience when the overworked wife and mother begins to get pale, have headaches, backaches, faint spells, or is melancholy and cannot sleep. There is help for every woman in this condition, as evidenced by the many voluntary letters of recommendation which we are continually publishing in this paper for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to give it a trial.

DEATH OF WILSON STIRS IRELAND

Field Marshal's Assassination Brings New Outbreaks

SIX WOUNDED AT BELFAST

Ulster Government Members Under Police Protection

(BULLETIN)

DUBLIN — (United Press) — Rory O'Connor, commander of the Irish republican army insurgents, has sent an ultimatum to Lloyd George that unless British troops evacuate Dublin within 72 hours, military action will be taken, it was reliably reported here today.

BELFAST — (Associated Press) — The situation here was one of great anxiety today, owing to the high state of feeling over the assassination of Field Marshal Wilson in London.

Special precautions were taken in the disturbed areas, but the military police were forced to fire on mobs several times. The casualties by midforenoon were six wounded. The area mainly affected is situated between Grosvenor-st. and Falls-rd.

Virtually every member of the Ulster government is under police protection. A man named Ireland and a girl named English were wounded in a clash between civilians and military patrols in the York-st area.

HEAVY RIFLE FIRE — Heavy rifle fire broke out in the Cullinstree-rd district today while the curfew was still in effect. A wide area was soon affected and despite the efforts of a large force of military and police to dislodge the gunmen, the firing continued.

The outbreak followed an attack on a police car in the district between Grosvenor-st and Falls-rd which is traversed by Cullinstree-rd.

Incendiaries this morning destroyed a store in Grosvenor-st owned by Mrs. Gerret McCullough, mother of Dennis McCullough, former Sinn Féin envoy to the United States.

She Sings Babies of All Nations to Sleep

DOROTHY TERRISS

"The Lullaby Lady" is the unofficial title of Dorothy Terriss. She earned it because she has probably written more lullabies than any other song writer.

She has written lullabies for Hawaiian, Indian, Chinese, Spanish, Russian and Icelandic infants and now she has just done "The Indiana Lullaby" for her own country babies.

But Miss Terriss does not write for the babies. She writes for the mothers.

"The baby doesn't understand the words anyhow," she explains, "it is the mother who should enjoy the sentiment. That's why my lullabies are love songs—that's what the mother really loves to sing."

CHIEF RE-APPOINTED — DELPHOS — H. A. Kehres, chief of police, has been reappointed by Mayor J. K. Williams, following his successful passing of the required civil service examination. He made a grade of 94 per cent, according to reports.

ALIEN PROPERTY PROBE SOUGHT

Maladministration of Custodian is Charged

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Introduced by Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, with the declaration that charges of maladministration, discrimination and payment of excessive attorney's fees by the office of the alien property custodian have been so frequent they "cannot be ignored without grave injury to the good name of our country," a resolution was pending in the house today proposing a congressional investigation of the custodian's office.

Charging on the floor that the aggregate value of the properties held by the custodian as shown by his latest report "was nearly a quarter of a billion dollars less than we might reasonably expect to find there," Mr. Woodruff asserted that only an impartial investigation would show the cause of this shrinkage. "Only such an investigation," he said, "would show how much of it was due to depreciation, thru maladministration, how much to sale of properties below their reasonable value, how much to practical gifts to officials, friends and favorites of the custodian's office."

Mr. Woodruff's speech was followed by a prompt denial by Thomas W. Miller, the alien property custodian, of his charges that disproportionate fees had been paid to attorneys, that trusts had been disposed of at unreasonably low prices and that there had been discrimination in the release of enemy property while that to which title is held by American citizens remains sequestered. Mr. Miller declared that he "held no brief" for his predecessors in the office of custodian but that the office was not in a position to turn itself into a "prosecuting attorney's office." If any mistakes had been made under his incumbency, he said, he stood ready to rectify such as were brought to his attention.

BITTEN BY DOG

WAPAKONETA — Kermit Frische, aged two and a half years, son of Irvin Frische, near this city, was attacked by a collie dog on the Frische farm and his neck lacerated by the canine's teeth. The child attempted to take a piece of meat away from the dog, to give to a kitten.

THREE ASK PAROLE

WAPAKONETA — David Whitfield, one of a trio sent to the Mansfield reformatory for a holdup staged at the Weber gambling house here, is an applicant for parole. Otto Wierwille and Arthur Opperman, sentenced for forgery, also seeks release from the reformatory.

Spaulding Bathing Suits

They're not at all like ordinary bathing suits—they're better. An athletic white wool shirt and short, pure worsted trunks with belt—a clever outfit, indeed.

EDISON'S QUIZ LIST

Postal Authorities Have Their Own Ideas of Knowledge

HOW FAR TO CACAPEHON?

Guide Tells it All—Get One and "See" America

Suppose someone would ask you if you knew Abbie Joe or whether the kakoo is a fish or a bird, what you say?

Have you been under the impression that Cacaophon is the name of a tribe of South Sea Islanders and that Dagucachonda is either a swear word or a disease?

Federal authorities have decided that anyone who cannot answer these questions without a moment's hesitation is not properly educated and has taken the necessary steps to spread knowledge among the natives.

BOOK OF "E"

A big book of "umpeteeen hundred" pages has been issued with all the information on the above names, and several thousand more having the same complexion, ready for instant consumption.

This book is the U. S. Postal Guide. Now the secret is out. The above suppositions were just foolery. The names given are really names of persons in the United States.

Abbie Joe is in Louisiana, Bakoo in North Dakota, Cacaophon is in West Virginia and Dagucachonda is in Pennsylvania. You would have known all this if you had been reading the Postal Guide regularly.

Any person or firms in Lima who need the need of correct information as to the locations of cities and towns throughout the country may purchase copies of the guide, A. E. Gale, postmaster, says.

A copy with 11 monthly supplements may be obtained by sending $1.50 to the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington. The book alone costs $1.50, Gale says.

ON SALE

Besides the names of the towns and cities the guide tells the zone which is in and gives many provisions of the postal law. Changes, additions or withdrawals are handled in the monthly supplements.

A number of Lima firms have already purchased the book and many more will do so if they know that it is available, Gale said.

Cuticura Quickly Soothes Rashes and Irritations

Hot baths with Cuticura Soap, followed by light applications of Cuticura Ointment, afford immediate relief in most cases of rashes, irritations, eczemas, etc. Cuticura Talcum is also excellent for the skin.

For Sale Everywhere. Ask your "Cuticura" Salesman, Dept. 107, Mailing St. Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa. 19106. Cuticura Soap always without fail.

OPEN LETTERS

To Chautauquans

DEAR FOLKS: It pleases me mightily to read in my favorite newspaper that you intend to set aside possible earnings of this year's sessions of my Colt-Alber chautauqua for the benefit of charity or to aid in developing playground work.

This surely will help in making the chautauqua a positive success. The entertainment is well worth the money you ask for season tickets. Those who purchase them will be aiding a worthy cause in double measure.

LIMA BEANE.

To Father Leonard Plumanns

REVEREND SIR: Permit me to add my congratulations on the honor that has come to you in being permitted to serve in the priesthood for 25 years. I trust that you will be spared to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of your ordination and later your diamond jubilee.

LIMA BEANE.

To Manager Bingham

DEAR GENERAL: An inspection of the Lost Creek reservoir by yourself and City Engineer Vaughn Miller is timely. Repair of leaks in the lake banks has resulted in assisting in the conservation of water supply for my people.

It's the little avenues of waste that become big ones eventually. I trust you'll see to it that the leaks are taken care of when they develop hereafter.

LIMA BEANE.

To My People

DEAR FOLKS: I hope that you will cut out the practice of throwing debris in my streets. It is unsightly, as well as dangerous. Out on Circular-st I saw a young boy hurled from a bicycle directly in front of a moving auto when the wheel struck a tree limb that had been thrown into the street.

Fortunately for the boy, the auto was moving slowly and was quickly stopped, saving him from possible death or at least a broken leg or arm.

LIMA BEANE.

To Lot Owners

FRIENDS: City officials have warned you that weeds in vacant lots must be cut before they go to seed, or the city will have the work done and make the cost a lien on your property.

Such notice should not be necessary at all. Civic pride should impel you to look after it without the necessity of a threat being conveyed. I notice there are a number of places along the river where weeds are growing rank and approaching the seed stage.

The city might set a good example to others by having this noxious growth removed.

LIMA BEANE.

To City Commissioners

DEAR BOYS: Making preparations for the improvement of Main-st, which I understand is one of the plans for 1923, it is to be hoped that you will see to it that all changes of water lines are made long before the improvement work begins.

Likewise, I hope you'll require the gas company and the Ohio Electric to have gas and steam heat lines in proper condition before next year. This thing of tearing up a paved street immediately after the work is completed is not good procedure.

ABE MARTIN

Two homely people alas seem to be so genuinely glad to meet one another. The commonest error these days is 'imagining' we know a good thing.

ferred three motor trips towards the town. The cause of decline in street railway earnings. To the post, and received a belated billing for last month's groceries. Filed.

So to the office and busied at many and divers affairs. Whence came Hugh Phelps, husband of the best Lima reporter who ever sensed news, yet she never worked on a newspaper. Whom old friends will remember under the name of Sabine Carnes.

Out and chatted long with Supt. Charlie Evans, of the water works of this town. Now engaged in laying a new line down Main street. One block each week so as not to disturb business on Saturdays. In for a Greek mauture and to discourse on the price of cleaning a year-old Panama. And to see 'Til and leave him the price of a beef-steak.

So, to lunch with my wife and dining at a nearby table with his wife was Clem Thompson, the famous baseballist. And he down to perfect weight.

In the afternoon, studied long on the list of descended and self-made blue-bloods posted for non payment of House accounts at Shawnee Country club. Some of the greatest heads of noble families therein, thousands of the professional, manufacturing and banking world. And the rule that no further charges are permitted until the actual money is taken in hand to the secretary in the Masonic block. So, a plutocrat banker in from making a near-bogie. Feeling like Chick Evans, spins a tale of his game. And hastens to his shower. Rings for towel. Boy comes, sees him but refuses to issue another towel ticket. Plutocrat now under the shower; yells loudly in protest. Boy points to bulletin showing banker owes 35c for month of May. Nothing doing. Banker rages and becomes sacreligious. No avail. Finally dries himself on his handkerchief. Watch closely and you will see him with his silver in hand going to Secretary's office, Masonic building, this day. The study of these names is a treatise in psycho-analysis. A great hub ensued when G. E. Blum, the merchant prince, played Jim Sullivan, the premier golfer, down to the 15th hole, where Sullivan won, by a put for a two, against Blum's three. The champion turned the first nine in 39 strokes, the old course in a 38 and took the fourth flight in the cup tournament, one up. Blum did a 43 and a 42.

Home to a tired business man's dinner. And in the twilight until moonshine, drove about in the runabout. Until my wife, poor wretch, remembered she had hose drying in front of an open gas stove. So homet to save one each of three different pairs. Which she can wear out about the house.

IT'S ALWAYS MORE FUN WHEN THERE'S COMPANY

To Battery D

DEAR BOYS: You have reason to feel gratification that an outfit has been received from the government which makes it possible for you to become a military unit in fact as well as in theory.

I rejoice with you that guns and other necessary equipment have arrived, so that training may go forward in the proper manner. I expect to see rapid development along training lines from now on.

LIMA BEANE.

To Courthouse Advocates

FRIENDS: I doubt very much the advisability of a movement you are endeavoring to start in behalf of a new courthouse for Allen-co. While it is true the present structure is not in keeping with the needs of the times, it probably can be made to do service for some years, by the expenditure of less than $100,000, whereas a new temple of justice would cost somewhere near a million.

In these times the people are in no mood for the voting of million dollar bond issues.

LIMA BEANE.

To Judge E. J. Jackson

DEAR JUDGE: Your assurance that fines are not being levied against farmers and other transients in my city for slight infractions of the traffic law is reassuring. Visitors to my city have not the means of acquainting themselves with the laws existing here that are afforded my citizens. Common sense should be mixed with law.

LIMA BEANE.

To Politicians

MY FRIENDS: Establishment of local weather bureaus, I understand, is brought about more quickly when politicians get after Representatives in Washington.

It is very embarrassing to me to be required to tell strangers that my city does not possess a weather observer, authorized by the government and equipped with the necessary outfit to record daily weather conditions.

Why not give this matter your attention? My Chamber of Commerce and luncheon club members will help, if necessary.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

TRICHINOSIS.

When you consider the great number of diseases man can have, and the countless millions of germs watchfully waiting to spring upon unsuspecting victims, you cannot but marvel that we are living at all. A sudden outbreak of a certain disease always attracts scientific attention, as did a small epidemic of trichinosis, a rather rare disease in this country, in New Jersey, recently.

Trichinosis is caused by organisms in the form of small round worms, barely visible to the eye, which occur in cysts, or membranous pouches, in the muscles of infected meat-eating animals, generally the hog, the rat and man. They are known to remain alive, though inactive, in the hog for at least 11 years. When the raw or imperfectly cooked meat from such an animal is eaten, the worms are liberated during the process of digestion, grow and multiply in the intestine and the young worms or larvae then bore their way into the blood stream and finally into the muscles of the new host. Here they gradually become encysted and remain until they die or are, in turn, liberated, as before. The degree of illness is thought to vary with the number of living trichinae eaten. The number of worms in a pound of infected pork has been estimated as high as 500,000.

Thorough cooking of the infected meat kills the larvae. The disease is, therefore, confined, in most cases, to those of nationalities which eat pork raw or only slightly cooked.

The epidemic of this disease referred to, numbered 34 cases. Investigation proved conclusively that the source of the epidemic was an infected hog which had been slaughtered recently, a part of the meat having been eaten as sausage.

What Would the Boys We Were Think of Us Now?
An apt question asked by Mr. Butler in this week's Post. Would you, Mr. Man (or Mrs. Woman either) be satisfied with the answer?
"The way to live is inch by inch and day by day." Do not "put off." AMUEL GOMPERS RE-ELECTED Chosen for 41st Term As Labor Federation Head ENEMIES ARE PUT TO ROUT
National Victory Won for Veteran's Administration

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN)
CINCINNATI, June 22.—(United Press.)—Samuel Gompers today re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor out opposition.
The effort of a coalition of rail workers, miners and others to elect Gompers out, collapsed early and no other candidate for president was nominated.
Gompers' election today was the time he has been chosen to the office during the entire life of the federation, with the exception of one year.
James Duncan, head of the Mine Workers, was likewise re-elected first vice-president.
Gompers' foes beaten.
Gompers was re-elected by approximately 4,000 majority, thus defeating the efforts of the anti-Gomperses in the federation to break administration state.
Gompers' opponents, however, were re-elected, as eighth vice-president.
The anti-Gompers groups again defeated in an attempt to elect to the executive council, they failed to elect Joseph A. Skelly, president of the boiler-makers, treasurer of the federation.
Daniel Tobin, of the teamsters, re-elected by a margin of more than 6,000.
Frank Morrison, was unanimously re-elected secretary, with no opposition.
The election marked a complete victory for the Gompers administration.
Portland, Ore., came from behind in the race for the next election, which will be held there in October, 1923.
Benjamin Schleisinger, of the Garment Workers, Edward McGovern, plasterers, were elected delegates to the British Empire union congress and William J. Lusk of the Kentucky state ratification to the Canadian labor press.

MANY DIVIDENDS DECLARED

More Jobs Than Workers in Some Sections

(BY B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — Some gleamings of the news.

Cheerful dividend announcements are coming to hand every day. Here are a few published within the last week:

Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation declared an initial dividend of 50 cents.

Edmunds and Jones resumed dividends on common stock.

Marland Oil Company has adopted $1 a year payments.

United Alloy Steel Corporation has resumed 50 cents quarterly dividends.

Newton Steel Company has declared an initial dividend of $1.50 a share.

Great Northern Railway has declared a semi-annual dividend of 1-1/2 percent on its preferred stock.

Hanover National Bank of New York stockholders will receive larger dividends.

Puget Sound Power and Light company has resumed $1 quarterly dividends.

Philadelphia Rapid Transit has been placed on a 36 annual dividend basis.

Trumbull Steel Company has increased its common dividend.

Lawyers Title and Trust Company of New York declared an extra dividend of 3 per cent.

Two Chicago banks have declared extra dividends of $2 and $3 respectively and one Chicago bank has declared an initial dividend of $1.25.

American Exchange National Bank of New York has increased its dividend from 14 to 15 percent annually.

Pratt Oil and Gas company has declared an extra payment of $2.

Island Creek Coal Company declared an extra dividend of $2.

Pacific Pipe Line company has declared a $3 extra dividend.

I look for more generous dividend action by the directors of a number of railroads in the second half of this year, but not until mid-July.

Public utility companies will continue to figure prominently in the dividend news. Mining companies will come along towards the end of the year.

Larger industrial distributions will also be forthcoming—automobile companies, oil companies and woolen companies should appear in the list.

Says a dispatch from Detroit.

Harry D. Zahn, head of the Social Service Bureau of the City Public Welfare Department states: "Permanent well-paying jobs for 400 men are to be had for the asking thru this office, but they are going begging."

"This is the first time in more than two years we have had such a large margin of unemployed men. Formerly this department kept a staff of workers whose whole time was devoted to interviewing employment managers of Detroit factories, pleading with them to employ family heads in dire need of employment."

"Today there is no need of any resident of Detroit being out of work. The factories are bidding against one another, both for skilled and unskilled labor. Wages are being boosted, in some factories skilled laborers receiving as high as $1 per hour."

The national conference board in its analysis of wage changes for the month ending June 15, says:

"Increases outweigh reductions in the building trades. A shortage of labor is beginning to make itself felt, which some operators are attempting to overcome by payment of 50 percent above union wage. The metal trades also show a balance in favor of increases."

Financial columns almost daily report the flotation of securities for cars and other equipment.

Contracts for oil tanks are being heavily placed. Yesterday Sinclair Oil purchasing company reported ordering fifty 80,000 barrel tanks.

International Carbon Corporation yesterday announced that it had started operations on its 4,000 ton plant at Marshall Texas.

Youngstown Ohio this week reports only three, but not until mid-July among the 113 in the district might resume operations this week.

St. Paul loadings for the first 17 days of June totalled 54,500 cars against 71,903 cars a year ago.

Call money in New York has declined to the lowest quotation in five years and short time loans are sometimes available at a fraction under 4 per cent.

Hopefulness is the keynote coming from conferences between Mex-

INCIDENTS IN AMERICAN HISTORY

Answer to yesterday's puzzle: "Morgan's Raid"

LEWIS IS BLAMED FOR MINE WAR

Telegram Caused Herrin Outbreak, Farrington Says

CINCINNATI — (United Press) —

Farrington indirectly blamed John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, for the trouble. He said it "apparently" was a telegram sent by Lewis that started the war.

Farrington added, however, that he did not know as a fact that Lewis had sent a telegram to the strikers.

From other sources, it was learned that a telegram was prepared which not only referred to the imported workers in the Herrin mine as "common strike breakers", but set forth in some details the reasons why they should not be considered good union men.

They claimed to belong to the Steam Shovelers and Dredgemen's union, which was suspended from the American Federation of Labor in March, 1919, for failure to amalgamate with the Steam and Operating Engineers.

Farrington said 41 were killed, according to his information. Of these all but two were strike-breakers.

LEWIS TALKS

CINCINNATI — John L. Lewis in a statement here today declared:

"The United Mine Workers of America is not to any degree responsible for the unfortunate occurrence at Herrin, Ills."

He said the organization of which he is president never encouraged or condoned lawlessness.

"Sinister influences," Mr. Lewis declared, "had been at work among the miners to incite and inflame the spirit of violence."

Coal companies he asserted had employed "thousands of detectives" to work among striking miners.

PAINT SHOWERS STREET IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

A slip of the hand, a crash on the pavement and a barrel of white lead, destined for the new Woolworth-bldg, spread itself over a portion of High-st, Friday.

Traffic was tied up for a half hour while truckmen from the Lima Truck and Storage Co., who were delivering the lead, scooped it up and poured it into a new barrel.

A large portion of the lead was saved as the wood block paving is impervious to water or other liquids. Enough of the paint base remained however to show where the accident occurred.

Too's finance minister and the leaders of America's oil industry, De La Huerta is described as a very capable, hard bargainer, yet open to reason.

Failure of Brotherhoods who actually run the country's trains to give notification of any intention to join a strike, should one be declared by the maintenance of way and other workers is accepted as killing all danger of a nation-wide tie-up of transportation.

In these days of wobbly stock markets strike uncertainties, weak gain prices, mis-fire European conferences and hedgehogging dealings at Washington, it is not amiss to draw a little attention to encouraging developments.

MINE RIOT BREAKS IN NEW ZONE

counted for in a pitched battle between the strikers and sympathizers and the imported strippers when the local men attacked the barricaded workers at dawn.

HORRIBLE BUTCHERY

Later, however, open statements from scores of persons on the streets here were to the effect that the working men surrendered at the first onslaught and, after having been tied into groups of three and six, were cruelly massacred, told to run a gauntlet of rifle fire, only to be shot to death at distances of a few feet when, wounded, one or two of a group would fall and drag the others to the ground, stabbed and hacked to death with knives, bayonets with clubs and at least three of them hanged, while in the instances of six men at least, they were said to have been dragged over a rough rocky road behind an automobile.

The women, some carrying infants, urged the men on, it was stated, and in at least one instance the Associated Press correspondent observed unbelievable cruelty from a woman.

In the wounded list there were sixteen in the Herrin hospital, three reported in the Carbondale hospital, and a number of others—union striking miners—believed to be living in their homes.

There was little question that the exact number of dead never will be known. No one seemed inclined to drag the pond where the bodies were reported thrown and no searching parties have been organized to seek bodies in the woods.

All reports, whether from miners or from strike-breakers or mine operators agree that the killings really were a massacre—that the victims were shot down in cold blood after they had done in the white flag and surrendered themselves and their arms to the attacking forces. Many persons in the county uphold the slaughter as a rightful act of judgment.

Citizens gathering on street corners last night and today laughed and joked over the affair and proudly boasted that "some of these days people will realize that it does not pay to try to break a strike in Williamson-co."

In the morgue women and children as they passed thru, commented on the accuracy of the shooters who brought down these victims.

STORIES OF ATTACKS

Men who openly boast that they were in attacking forces related with apparent pride stories of what in war times would be called brutality. The story of the attack on C. K. McDowell, strike breaker's superintendent, was related by many. McDowell, with only one leg, was beaten to death with stones before being riddled with bullets, according to persons who say they were eye-witnesses.

SHOT LIKE RABBITS

He refused to march with the other prisoners who were tied together and told to run down the road between lines of attackers who poured buckshot, rifle and pistol bullets into them as they fled, saying that he'd just as soon die where he was. He died where he was said to have made the statement.

The mine safe was looted and one man, with some $1,500 in bills stood, a semi-circle of men around him and dealt out the bills like cards, according to wounded men.

The correspondent saw men wounded almost to death, kicked around in the scorching sun in dusty roads. He saw men chased thru fields like rabbits by shouting persons who opened fire, once catching him accidentally between two fires.

Surrounded by armed men, he saw a knife plunged into the throat of a wounded man who in his dying breath gasped a plea "In the name of your mother, in the name of your mother, in the name of God, give me water" only to receive laughter and flutes such as "where you're going you won't see water," as a reply.

Mothers carried babies into the morgue and up to piles of bodies to a look at what their paid men, killed.

bedside of a dying man and some him and saw as him as he brand his last. "There it all, strike the area was traversed and there was not a word heard of sympathy for a victim. The merchant seemed to be that strike-breaker deserved slaughter.

RED STAR
Detroit Vapor
OIL STOVE

DEMONSTRATION NOW GOING ON. SEE THIS WONDERFUL IMPROVED STOVE IN OPERATION. SIZES TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE AND SIX BURNERS.

No matter where you are, a little kerosene makes it possible to have a cooking service equal to city gas in every respect. The Red Star will cook anything that can be cooked on any stove and will do it in the same time as called for by the best recipes. Red Star burners are quite different from those in ordinary oil stoves. There are no wicks or wick substitutes. The patented burner is made from solid grey iron castings and automatically makes gas from either kerosene or gasoline. All heat is directly under cooking utensils, so that none is lost. Burner parts become red hot, adding their even metal heat. Give 19 hours of splendid cooking service from each gallon of fuel—a saving of 25% of fuel cost. These stoves are sturdily constructed and will give a lifetime of cooking service.

Special June Offer

To many housewives of this community who have long wanted a Red Star oil stove but hesitated because of being able to get along with the stove they were using. No matter what condition your present cook stove is in, during this sale we will allow you $5.00 for it to apply on the sale of a new Red Star. In other words, to get a Red Star stove into every kitchen possible, we are going to make this very special offer during June. Arrange to call and see the new model Red Stars today.

EASY TERMS

In addition to the special June offer which we are making, we will also make very easy payment terms. Small amount down and balance monthly. We will suit your convenience absolutely in the matter of easy payments. You may never have the opportunity of getting a Red Star so conveniently again. OTKIN MAY HEAR POLICE CASES

Justice E. M. Botkin Granted Leave of Absence for Thirty Days

Justice E. M. Botkin, who has been since Wednesday, June 20, granted a leave of absence for thirty days, to be in administration of the estate of his brother-in-law, Charles Shapley, who was granted, but the city commission has announced nobody to assume his duties.

A conference was to be held Friday at Justice E. M. Botkin with city commissioners relative to a temporary appointment, but they did not meet. It is understood that Botkin will be in court as quickly as the legal department establishes the date of the move. No obstacles have yet been seen.

Botkin will hold court in the regular quarters on the second floor of the city building, above the police station, if he is selected, it was announced.

A large docket awaits the new judicial magistrate. Only one preliminary hearing, has been double time because of lack of arraignment. He is J. F. Morton, Columbus designated as a noble. He was sentenced Friday, for drunk driving.

A number of cases scheduled to be heard in the last few days will be as soon as the new judge sits.

It is Leola Wingate, 24, of 564 1/2 St., charged with disorderly conduct, increased the docket Friday.

Construction of a "balloon type" by A. J. Rahrig, a farmer living near Delphos, is being watched with great interest by all Allen-county men. H. J. Ridge, farm agent, Friday.

The barn, rapidly nearing completion, is so-called because its balloon construction gives it the appearance of a huge balloon. It is said that there is one-third more space in this type of barn. The room is obtained by the addition of all beams and heavy timbers. In construction it is similar to a Gothic cathedral with its support from the sides.

The frame of the barn, in two inches or less in thickness, are used. Rafters are light and well braced and are strong enough to carry heavier loads of than the old type timber frame.

Iron bolts are used to fasten the frame of the barn to the concrete foundation. This makes it fireproof, cyclone proof, state engineers claim.

The barn being constructed by Rahrig is satisfactory in all respects to other farmers will adopt its construction for any new barn.

Men and Matters

Goetz, Lima attorney, advised the Kiwanis club at Wapakoneta Thursday. He outlined the plan to meet the evil of the profession and salesman of fraudulent securities. Goetz advised the transfer of the blue sky act of the state from Columbus to the common pleas courts of the counties.

IF YOU'D POSSESS CHARM—PICK THE RIGHT SETTING!

MADMOISELLE LISETTE GUERRY

(BY MARIAN HALE)
Whether you're a demure little home girl anxious to please the "one man" who calls every Sunday afternoon—
Or a wife eager that the charm which originally drew your husband to you shall not fade—
You can learn some things of interest from Mademoiselle Lisette Guerry. She's the queen of Paris mannequins, or style models. She was selected by Paul Poiret, famous artist designer, to exploit his latest fashion sensations.

She wears Poiret's creations in surroundings of wealth and splendor that would make the court of Louis XIV tawdry by comparison.

The rooms are hung with silken fabrics. In one room furniture is entirely of dull gold. In another there are no chairs, only floor cushions of priceless materials.

And says Mademoiselle Lisette: "The background is as important as the gown. A woman without lovely surroundings is an unset jewel."

And Mademoiselle Lisette is right. But a woman does not need the luxurious surroundings she enjoys to show herself at best advantage. Good taste, judiciously used, will enable you, or any other woman, to attain the same end.

To look beautiful on the street, against bricks and commercial buildings, a woman must be lovely indeed, but one who cannot be beautiful in a garden, against soft foliage and blossoming flowers, must be hopelessly ugly.

The point is, that most women are neither ravishing beauties nor hopeless drumps. They simply need a favorable environment to bring out their charm.

The only place a woman can really create her own setting is in her home.

Drab surroundings mean a drab, uninteresting personality. Color means imagination and a viewpoint. A woman need not spend a fortune on her home, but she should spend what she has intelligently.

A rigid color scheme is a mistake, for it is completely upset when a person wearing an inharmonious color enters it. But one can combine almost any colors in the same room if they are properly handled, and are sufficiently subdued and mellowed.

A light, sunny room brings out the beauty of the blond. Blue and gold tints can always be introduced to advantage in her setting. The dull reds and purples are more effective in bringing out the deeper tints of the brunet.

A large woman makes herself look ridiculous and out of scale if she fills her home with trinkets and small objects. She should aim for dignity and unbroken spaces.

Dull green is an excellent background for most types and so is tan or certain tones of brown or gray. Rose colored lampshades always cast a flattering glow, while blue or green ones are slenderous.

Very colorful, extreme or exotic backgrounds should never be attempted unless one has an unerring color sense or a highly developed artistic ability.

The knowing woman selects her background as carefully as her clothes, and makes one serve the other.

SORORITY DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB FEATURE OF WEEK

A MOST delightful week, filled with many social functions, will come to a brilliant close Friday evening with the dance to be given at the Shawnee Country club by the Ohio Chapter, Delta Sigma sorority.

The dance will be one of the most attractive of the summer season and the club house will be prettily decorated for the occasion. The sorority colors, pink and lavender, will be artistically combined with flowers, in forming the decorations.

Receiving the guests, numbering about 250, will be the officers of the sorority including Mrs. Glenn Woodruff, president; Mrs. Donald McHaffey, vice-president; Mrs. Seward Polson, second vice-president; Miss Josephine Garretson, secretary; Miss Eloise Cunningham, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Wallace, philanthropic secretary; and Miss Hope Hollister, chairman of the social committee.

A popular seven piece orchestra will play for the program of 16 numbers.

Miss Mary Irene Trimpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Trimpe, of Sidney, became the bride of Dr. Joseph C. Nagelson, of this city, son of Mrs. Mary Nagelson, of Plaquemine, at a beautiful ceremony Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The wedding was solemnized in the Holy Angel church, Sidney, at nuptial high mass. The Rev. John Nagelson and the Rev. U. C. Nagelson, both of New York, officiated at the ceremony, and the Rev. A. Fortman officiated.

Following the ceremony, Miss Irene Bustetter, at the organ, played a group of numbers, and the opening strains of Lotengrin's Wedding March, with which the bridal party entered the church.

The attractive bride was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Trimpe, while Frank Borer, of Lima, acted as groomsmen. The little flower girls were Betty Ann Kingseed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kingseed, of Sidney, and Rosemary Nagelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Nagelson, of Youngstown. Ushers were Carl and Raymond Brande, who, cousins of the bride.

Following the ceremony a prettily appointed wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Nagelson and his bride left in the afternoon for a wedding trip on the lake. Upon their return they will be at home in the Hughes-apts, Lima.

Among Lima residents in attendance at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lynch, Miss Louise Ackerman, Corlinda Duffield, Mary Agelline and Margaret Lynch, Messrs. Frank Borer, Charles Capron, A. W. Cantwell, Joseph Kelley and Dr. D. McGriff.

Miss Ruth Wells, of W. Elm-st., has as her guest, Miss Ruth Harris, of Columbus.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Brunk, of the Methodist-apts, entertained informally at 6 o'clock dinner at the Elk's Home, Thursday evening. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Brunk, Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Brunk, of La Junta, Colo., and Dr. Walter Brunk, of Cleveland.

The home was prettily decorated with a profusion of garden flowers and the class colors of red and white were attractively arranged. Following the dinner the host entertained his guests with a theatre party.

Guests included Messrs. Raymond Devine, Clayton Wolf, Leo Williams, Bernard Cunningham, Oliver Brunk, Walter Fisher, Lawrence Finn and Robert Campbell.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell, of S. Collett-st., was hostess to the members of the Fortnightly Bridge club and a small group of guests, Wednesday. A prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon preceded the playing. Mrs. M. S. Thompson held high score among the members, while Mrs. O. E. Chenoweth was high among the guests.

Guests included Mrs. Charles Finley, Mrs. W. Holmes Mackenzie, Mrs. George Vail and Mrs. Chenoweth. The meetings will be discontinued for the summer months.

Announcements have been received by Lima friends of Miss Ruth Ethel Smith, formerly of this city, now of St. Petersburg, Fla., of her marriage to James Russell Hony, of St. Petersburg. The wedding took place at the First Methodist church in St. Petersburg, May 20th, the Rev. M. H. Norton officiating.

Miss Eda Fetter, of Shawnee, left for Alberta, Canada, where she will spend the summer months with relatives. During the summer Miss Fetter will visit in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss Frances Miller, of West Cairo, returned Thursday, from a week's stay at Lakeside.

Dear Miss Smart:
Am a young girl 22 years of age. I feel that I have always had quite a bit of attention from the young men. I have always tried to be jolly and I am a nice dresser—consequently I have always had many nice friends among the men. I am engaged to a splendid man but as we cannot be married for some time I thought it best not to announce the engagement. I still continue to receive a number of other invitations as my friends do not know that I am engaged. Altho I love my fiance I do not like to have to give up all the attention from the other men. He cannot see it this way, however, and says that since I am not satisfied with his attention alone I do not love him. Don't you think it ridiculous of him to show this attitude?

POLLY
N. O. POLLY, I can't say that I do. Instead I think it is you who is at fault. Any sane and reasonable man would resent the fact that his fiance is not satisfied with his attention. Likewise any girl who finds it a hardship to give up the attentions of other men when she has promised herself in marriage, does not sincerely love her fiance.

In your letter you did not state why it is necessary to postpone your wedding. If you really love your fiance and if it will not be an unreasonable length of time before you can be married you will be willing to make announcement of your engagement and give up the attentions, which an engaged girl has no right to encourage or accept.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am coming to you for help which I need very badly. I am a boy 19 years of age and am considered good looking but I don't get any very far because as soon as I get around the girls I am almost speechless. Please give me a lift on this drawback.

A READER
If you had said that you become speechless when confronted by a lion, a tiger or something like that, perhaps that would be different, but to think that a mere girl would have such a disastrous effect upon you is ridiculous. Talk about the weather, the stars or anything! Certainly in your 19 years of existence some few incidents, without mentioning, have taken place. Talk about anything! You are too self conscious! Just remember that girls are really quite gentle and harmless creatures and wouldn't think of harming you in the least.

Miss Barbara Thediek, a student at Mt. St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio arrived home to spend the summer months with her father, Frank Thediek, of N. Metcalf-st.

CHINESE SHADES

Chinese lanterns that fold up like fans make very nice lamp shades, particularly for the country home. These are inexpensive, but exceedingly decorative, and they do impart an "atmosphere."

FUR ON SUITS

There is much fur, of the lighter weight variety, used on the summer suits of silk. Often this is used in the collars and cuffs. Platinum gray fox is very popular. So is monkey fur.

LACE AND PEARLS

A smart gown of blue satin is trimmed with real lace, the pattern of which is outlined with pearl beads.

SUMMER HATS

BEADED IN ORANGE

One nice thing to do to a white crope de chine frock is to decorate it with a close, all-over pattern made with orange-colored beads. A black lace hat is worthy accompaniment in the way of millinery.

SERVICEABLE

Pongee dresses have always been popular for midsummer. Some of the prettiest ones for this season are trimmed only with hemstitching. Usually this is done by hand.

TIME LIMIT IS SET ON SOCIETY ITEMS

Society items for publication in the Sunday morning edition of The Lima News, will not be accepted after 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon preceding the date of publication. Mechanical limitations make this time limit necessary.

It is urged that those having items of interest, call as early as possible before the time limit expires. For afternoon editions every day of the week, no items can be accepted after 12 noon each day.

MME. DIANINA AND M. KOTCHETOVSKY IN "COPENHAGEN PORCELAIN" FROM THE NEW EDITION OF BAILLEFF'S CHAUVESOURIS.

(BY JOHN O'DONNELL.)

NEW YORK.—Five months of eager homage have not dulled New York's appetite for the exotic theatrical fare of the Chauve-Souris.

A second edition of the Russian vaudeville provided by Nikita Bailleff's troupe from the Bat Theater of Moscow is nightly crowding the Century Roof.

Twelve new numbers from the Bailleff repertoire of 120, and the continuation of "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and "Katinka," combine with decorations of gorgeous splendor to make Chauve-Souris a competitor with the Folies and the Music Box Revue for summer popularity.

The perfect artistry and exquisite settings which last February accomplished the unusual feat of making an American audience enjoy vaudeville in Russian, continue to be the means by which Bailleff and his co-workers bridge the gap of linguistic ignorance.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Get Ready for Raspberry Season

Raspberry season soon will be at hand, which brings to mind visions of the delicious dishes that can be prepared with these berries.

Raspberry shrub is one example. It is an old drink that appeals to the palate and should be more popular than it is nowadays.

RASPBERRY SHRUB

Wash and pick over berries. Put in earthenware jar or half fill one big jar. Pour over vinegar to cover berries. Cover jars with clean cloths and let stand over night.

In the morning strain thru two thicknesses of cheesecloth or jelly bag. Measure juice. For every cup of juice add a cup of sugar.

Put in preserving kettle and bring

RASPBERRY NECTAR

But berries in a crock and pour vinegar over. Cover with a clean cloth and put in a cool place. Let stand 10 days or two weeks. Strain and measure.

Let cool and pour into sterilized bottles. Seal and store in a dark, dry, cool place. Dilute with ice water when used.

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is SUBSIDY. It's pronounced — sub-sid-y, with accent on the first syllable.

It meant originally, in England, a parliamentary grant to the crown of a sum raised by extraordinary taxation. Later, a sum granted by one state to another, as to a friendly power to aid the latter in war; a governmental grant of funds or property to a private person or corporation to assist in establishing or supporting an enterprise deemed advantageous to the public; a subvention; any gift by way of financial aid.

It comes from Latin "subsidiu," the troops stationed in reserve in the third line of battle; reserve; support; help. It's used like this—"In ordinary usage," says Webster, "subsidy often carries a derogatory implication."

My Husband for the First Time Spurns My Embrace

"I don't mean to say I watched you walking with Bart that night. I went to bed. And Bart didn't come in for an hour!"

"I guess it was a full hour!" I replied indignantly. "But can you—do you actually believe I was with Bart?"

"A man must believe his own eyes, Pessie!"

"A man invariably does believe his own eyes, right or wrong," I said bitterly. "And there's no sense in a woman's offering any defense."

After that speech, Jack and I were silent a long time.

"Jack has no job," I kept telling myself, altho that fact seemed the least important of our worries. I must be patient—and I want to be tender."

On the other hand, I perversely wished not to explain that Bonny, in my dress, had been mistaken by my husband for me. At last I understood why our motor trip had been such a failure.

And because he had believed his eyes, he ought to suffer, even if his eyes had lied. I contradicted myself every five minutes. Back and forth I swung between little pictures of Jack in forlorn, lonesome bankruptcy exciting my sympathy, and magnified pictures of Jack, my accuser, turning me to stone.

My husband sat with his face in his hands. No job. No money. A wife to take care of—a wife who took long walks with other men! I went across the room softly. I would tell my poor boy how his eyes had deceived him. I slipped in around his neck. I wanted to cry close to him, to put my face against his.

Jack shivered slightly. Then he most rudely in his hands, he rose and fled and evaded my embrace. "Oh, can't you see, Pessie? Just a case of hand in hand and to lip, cheek to cheek and clasp arms."

"I'm human, but I know how you've managed me. For you are about my neck. I've forgotten around your finger when I should have talked business."

"Now, girl, let's be honest. To marriage besides the human touch there's truth about love—and same truth about the sense in the rest of marriage?"

"If you're hunting for sense, I'll tell you a little!"

If Jack could be hard, I could be hard. Jack—my own husband—turned away from my caresses. It seemed impossible. Never since our first kiss had my man refused the touch of my hand upon his.

It was unexplainable—unendurable!

SORORITY DANCE AT COUNTRY CLUB FEATURE OF WEEK

A MOST delightful week, filled with many social functions, will come to a brilliant close Friday evening with the dance to be given at the Shawnee Country club by the Ohio Chapter, Delta Sigma sorority.

The dance will be one of the most attractive of the summer season and the club house will be prettily decorated for the occasion. The sorority colors, pink and lavender, will be artistically combined with flowers, in forming the decorations.

Receiving the guests, numbering about 250, will be the officers of the sorority including Mrs. Glennes Woodruff, president; Mrs. Donald McHaffey, vice-president; Mrs. Seward Folson, second vice-president; Miss Josephine Garretson, secretary; Miss Eloise Cunningham, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Wallace, philanthropic secretary; and Miss Hope Hollister, chairman of the social committee.

A popular seven piece orchestra will play for the program of 16 numbers.

Miss Mary Irene Trimpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Trimpe, of Sidney, became the bride of Dr. Joseph C. Nagelson, of this city, son of Mrs. Mary Nagelson, of Piqua, at a beautiful ceremony Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The wedding was solemnized in the Holy Angel church, Sidney, at nuptial high mass. The Rev. John Nagelson and the Rev. C. C. Nagelson, both of New York, officiated at the ceremony, and the Rev. A. Fortman officiated.

Following the ceremony, Miss Irene Eustetter, at the organ, played a group of numbers, and the opening strains of Lotengrin's Wedding March, with which the bride party entered the church.

The attractive bride was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Trimpe, while Frank Borer, of Lima, officiated as groomsmen. The little flower girls were Betty Ann Kingsed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kingsed, of Sidney, and Rosemary Nagelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Nagelson, of Youngstown. Ushers were Carl and Raymond Brande, cousins of the bride.

Following the ceremony a prettily appointed wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Nagelson and his bride left in the afternoon for wedding trip on the lake. Upon their return they will be at home in the Hughes-apts, Lima.

Among Lima residents in attendance at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lynch, Misses Louise Ackerman, Geraldine Duffield, Mary Angeline and Margaret Lynch, Messrs. Frank Borer, Charles Capron, A. W. Cantwell, Joseph Kelley and Dr. D. McGriff.

Miss Ruth Wells, of W. Elm-st., has as her guest, Miss Ruth Harris, of Columbus.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Brunk, of the Methodist-apts., entertained informally at 6 o'clock dinner at the Elk's Home, Thursday evening. Guests included Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Brunk, Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Brunk, of La Junta, Colo., and Dr. Walter Brunk, of Cleveland.

Erie S. Thompson, of N. Metcalf-st., entertained with a six o'clock dinner at his home Wednesday evening honoring a group of graduates of St. Rose school.

The home was prettily decorated with a profusion of garden flowers and the class colors of red and white were attractively arranged. Following the dinner the host entertained his guests with a theatre party.

Guests included Messrs. Raymond Devine, Clayton Wolf, Leo Williams, Bernard Cunningham, Oliver Runger, Walter Fisher, Lawrence Finn and Robert Campbell.

Mrs. Frank Mitchell, of S. Collett-st., was hostess to the members of the Fortnightly Bridge club and a small group of guests, Wednesday. A prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon preceded the playing. Mrs. M. S. Thompson held high score among the members, while Mrs. O. E. Chenoweth was high among the guests.

Guests included Mrs. Charles Finley, Mrs. W. Holmes Mackenzie, Mrs. George Vail and Mrs. Chenoweth. The meetings will be discontinued for the summer months.

Announcements have been received by Lima friends of Miss Ruth Ethel Smith, formerly of this city, now of St. Petersburg, Fla., of her marriage to James Russell, Henry, of St. Petersburg. The wedding took place at the First Methodist church in St. Petersburg, May 20th, the Rev. M. H. Norton officiating.

Miss Eda Fetter, of Shawnee, left for Alberta, Canada, where she will spend the summer months with relatives. Enroute Miss Fetter will visit in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Miss Frances Miller, of West Cairo, returned Thursday, from a week's stay at Lakeside.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a young girl 22 years of age. I am not saying this to be consoled but I have always had quite a bit of attention from the young men. I have always tried to be jolly and I am a nice dresser—consequently I have always had many nice friends. Among the men I am engaged to a splendid man but as we cannot be married for some time I thought it best not to announce the engagement. I still continue to receive a number of other invitations as my friends do not know that I am engaged. Altho I love my fiance I do not like to have to give up all the attentions from the other men. He cannot see it this way, however, and says that since I am not satisfied with his attention alone I do not love him. Don't you think it ridiculous of him to show this attitude?

FOLLY
N. O. POLLY: I can't say that I do. Instead I think it is you who is at fault. Any sane and reasonable man would resent the fact that his fiance is not satisfied with his attentions. Likewise any girl who finds it a hardship to give up the attentions of other men when she has promised herself in marriage, does not sincerely love her fiance.

In your letter you did not state why it is necessary to postpone your wedding. If you really love your fiance and if it will not be an unreasonable length of time before you can be married you will be willing to make announcement of your engagement and give up the attentions, which an engaged girl has no right to encourage or accept.

Dear Miss Smart:
I need very badly. I am a boy 15 years of age and am considered good looking but that doesn't go very far because as soon as I get around to girls I am almost speechless. Please give me a lift on this drawback.

A READER
If you had said that you become speechless when confronted by a lion, a tiger or something like that, perhaps, that would be different, but to think that a mere girl would have such a disastrous effect upon you! Talk about the weather, the stars or anything! Certainly in your 15 years of existence some few incidents, worth mentioning, have taken place. Talk about anything! You are too self conscious! Just remember that girls are really quite gentle and harmless creatures and wouldn't think of harming you in the least.

Miss Barbara Thedick, a student at St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio arrived home from the summer months with her father, Frank Thedick, of N. Metcalf-st.

CHINESE SHADES
Chinese lanterns that fold up like fans make very nice lamp shades, particularly for the country home. These are inexpensive, but exceedingly decorative, and they do impart an "atmosphere."

FUR ON SUITS
There is much fur, of the lighter weight variety, used on the summer suits of silk. Often this is used on the collars and cuffs. Platinum gray fox is very popular. So is monkey fur.

LACE AND PEARLS
A smart gown of blue satin is trimmed with real lace, the pattern of which is outlined with pearl beads.

SUMMER HATS
Many midsummer hats are trimmed with wreaths of field flowers of the most common variety. Usually these hats are of coarse straw with high luster finish.

BEADED IN ORANGE
One nice thing to do to a white crepe de chine frock is to decorate it with a close, all-over pattern made with orange-colored beads. A black lace hat is worthy accompaniment in the way of millinery.

SERVICEABLE
Pongee dresses have always been popular for midsummer. Some of the prettiest ones for this season are trimmed only with hemstitching. Usually this is done by hand.

TIME LIMIT IS SET ON SOCIETY ITEMS
Society items for publication in the Sunday morning edition of The Lima News, will not be accepted after 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon preceding the date of publication. Mechanical limitations make this time limit necessary.

It is urged that those having items of interest, call as early as possible before the time limit expires. For afternoon editions every day of the week, no items can be accepted after 12 noon each day.

MME. DIANINA AND M. KOTCHETOVSKY IN "COPENHAGEN PORCELAINE" FROM THE NEW EDITION OF BAILLEFF'S CHAUVESOURIS.

(BY JOHN O'DONNELL.)
NEW YORK.—Five months of eager homage have not dulled New York's appetite for the exotic theatrical fare of the Chauve-Souris.

A second edition of the Russian vaudeville provided by Nikita Bailleff's troupe from the Bat Theater of Moscow is nightly crowding the Century Roof.

Twelve new numbers from the Bailleff repertoire of 120, and the continuation of "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and "Katinka," combine with decorations of gorgeous splendor to make Chauve-Souris a competitor with the Follies and the Music Box Revue for summer popularity.

The perfect artistry and exquisite settings which last February accomplished the unusual feat of making an American audience enjoy vaudeville in Russian, continue to be the means by which Bailleff and his co-workers bridge the gap of linguistic ignorance.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Get Ready for Raspberry Season

Raspberry season soon will be at hand, which brings to mind visions of the delicious dishes that can be prepared with these berries.

Raspberry shrub is one example. It is an old drink that appeals to the palate and should be more popular than it is nowadays.

RASPBERRY SHRUB
Eight quarts of red raspberries, cider vinegar, sugar.

Wash and pick over berries. Put in earthenware jar or half fill one big jar. Pour over vinegar to cover berries. Cover jars with clean cloths and let stand over night.

In the morning strain thru two thicknesses of cheesecloth or jelly bag. Measure juice. For every cup of juice add a cup of sugar.

Put in preserving kettle and bring to boiling point. Boil 10 minutes. Fill sterilized bottles full and seal at once. Store in dry, cool, dark place.

RASPBERRY NECTAR
Four quarts raspberries, 2 quarts vinegar, sugar.

But berries in a crock and pour vinegar over. Cover with a clean cloth and put in a cool place. Let stand 10 days or two weeks. Strain and measure.

To every pint of juice add three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar. Bring to the boiling point and simmer gently 20 minutes. Skim as scum rises.

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is SUBSIDY.
It is pronounced — sub-sid-y, with accent on the first syllable.

It meant originally, in England, a parliamentary grant to the crown of a sum raised by extraordinary taxation. Later, a sum granted by one state to another, as to a friendly power to aid the latter in war; a governmental grant of funds or property to a private person or corporation to assist in establishing or supporting an enterprise deemed advantageous to the public; a subvention, any gift by way of financial aid.

It comes from—Latin "subsidium," the troops stationed in reserve in the third line of battle; reserve; support; help. It's used like this—"In ordinary usage," says Webster, "subsidy often carries a derogatory implication."

SCARAMOUCHE

By RAFAEL SARATINI

BEGIN HERE TODAY

There were two burning motives in the heart of ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU, which drove him to seek vengeance on the great noble of Brittany, the MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZYR. The first was the desire to avenge the hand of the young and beautiful ALINE DE KERADOU, niece of the Lord of Gervilly, who was popularly believed to be Andre-Louis' father. The second was burning hatred of the Marquis, who had caused by his brutal murder of Andre-Louis' dearest friend, the young and idealistic PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN, a divinity student. The Marquis, believing that Philippe had a "damned gift of eloquence" and fearing that the rumblings of discontent which were making way for the French Revolution would bring danger to his class, deliberately provoked a duel and killed the young student.

Andre-Louis decided to set out for Rennes and lay the case before the King's Lieutenant.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI
It was on a horse hired from the Breton Arms that Andre-Louis set out next morning; and an hour's brisk ride brought him to the city of Rennes.

He rode into the upper and principal part of that important city of some thirty thousand souls and came at last to the Place Royale, where he found the crowd to be dense. From the plinth of the equestrian statue of Louis XV a white-faced young man was excitedly addressing the multitude. His youth and dress proclaimed the student; and a group of his fellows acting as a guard of honor to him kept the immediate precincts of the statue.

Over the heads of the crowd Andre-Louis caught a few of the phrases flung forth by that eager voice.

"It was the promise of the King that it is the King's authority they flout. They arrogate to them the whole sovereignty in Brittany. The King has dissolved them. These insolent nobles defying their sovereign and the people."

Had he not known already of the events which had brought the Third Estate to the point of active revolt, those few phrases would fully have informed him. The popular display of temper was most opportune to his need, he thought. He put up his hired horse at the Corne de Cerf, and set out to the Palais de Justice. That the King's Lieutenant descended to see him at all was probably due to the grave complexion of the hour. At last he was ushered into a fine, well-lighted room furnished with enough gilt and satin to have supplied the boudoir of a lady of fashion.

It was a trivial setting for a

"AND WHO, SIR, IS THE MAN YOU CHARGE WITH THIS?"

King's Lieutenant, but about the King's Lieutenant there was—at least to ordinary eyes—nothing trivial. At the far end of the chamber, before a gothic writing-table with Watteau panels, sat that exalted being. Above a scarlet coat with an order flaming on its breast, and a billow of lace in which diamonds sparkled like drops of water, sprouted the massive powdered head of M. de Lesdigueres. It was thrown back to scowl with expectant arrogance.

M. de Lesdigueres considered him very sternly.

"What is your name?" he asked.

"Andre-Louis Moreau."

"Well, Andre-Louis Moreau, if you can state your plea briefly, I will hear you."

"You shall be the judge of that, monsieur," said Andre-Louis, and he proceeded at once to state his case, beginning with the shooting of Maybey, and passing thence to the killing of M. de Vilmorin. But he withheld until the end the name of the great gentleman against whom he demanded justice.

"And who, sir, is the man you charge with this?"

"The Marquis de La Tour d'AZYR."

"Who?" he shouted, and without waiting for an answer, "Why, here's impudence," he stormed on, "to come before me with such a charge against a gentleman of M. de La Tour d'AZYR's eminence! How dare you speak of him as a coward?"

"I speak of him as a murderer," the young man corrected. "And I demand justice against him."

"You demand it, do you? My God, what next?"

"I have informed you, monsieur, that a duel—so-called—has been fought, and a man killed. It seems that I must remind you, the administrator of the King's justice, that duels are against the law, and that it is your duty to hold an inquiry."

The door behind Andre-Louis opened softly. M. de Lesdigueres, pale with anger, contained himself with difficulty.

"You seek to compel us, do you, you impudent rascal!" he growled. "But I give you a last warning."

master lawyer; keep a closer guard over that insolent tongue of yours, or you will have cause very bitterly to regret its gibberish." He waved a jeweled, contemptuous hand. "To the door!"

CHAPTER VII

He had broken his futile lance with the windmill; the image suggested by M. de Keradieu persisted in his mind—and it was, he perceived, by sheer good fortune that he had escaped without hurt. There remained the wind itself—the whirlwind. And the events in Rennes, reflex of the greater events in Nantes, had set that wind blowing in his favor.

He set out briskly to retrace his steps toward the Place Royale, where the gathering of the populace was greatest.

There were cries "To the Palais! Down with the assassins! Down with the nobles!"

An artisan who stood shoulder to shoulder with him in the press enlivened Andre-Louis on the score of the increased excitement.

"They've shot him dead. His body is lying there where it fell at the foot of the statue. And there was another student killed not an hour ago by the cathedral works. Fard! If they can't prevail in one way they'll prevail in another."

Andre-Louis left him still talking.

ing, and clove a way thru that human press.

At the statue's base he came upon a little cluster of students about the body of the murdered lad; all stricken with fear and helplessness.

"You here, Moreau!" said a voice. He looked round to find himself confronted by Le Chapelier, a lawyer of Rennes, a prominent member of the Literary Chamber of that city.

"Ah, it is you, Chapelier! Why don't you tell them what to do up with you, man!" And he pointed to the plinth.

Le Chapelier's dark restless eyes searched the other's impassive face for some trace of irony he suspected.

"Your notions and mine on that score can hardly coincide," said he. Andre-Louis looked at him without surprise. How should Le Chapelier suspect his present intentions?

"If you won't tell them what is to be done, I will," said he.

"Nom de Dieu! If you want to invite a bullet from the other side, I shall not hinder you."

Scarcely were the words out than he repeated them; for as if in answer to that challenge Andre-Louis sprang up on to the plinth. Alarmed now, for he could only suppose it to be Andre-Louis' intention to speak on behalf of Privilege, Le Chapelier clutched him by the legs to pull him down again.

"Ah, that, no!" he was shouting. "Come down, you fool. Come down!"

Andre-Louis maintaining his position by clutching one of the legs of the bronze horse, lunged his voice like a bugle-note over the heads of that seething mob.

"Citizens of Rennes, the motherland is in danger!"

The effect was electric. A stir ran, like a ripple over water, across that froth of upturned human faces, and complete silence followed.

"Shuddering in horror of the vile deed here perpetrated, my voice demands to be heard by you. You have seen murder done under your eyes—the murder of one who nobly, without any thought of self, gave voice to the wrongs by which we are all oppressed. Fearing that voice, shunning the truth as foul things shun the light, our oppressors sent their agents to silence him in death."

Le Chapelier released at last his hold on Andre-Louis' ankle, staring at him the while in sheer amazement. What had come to him?

"Of assassins what shall you look for but assassination? I have a plan to tell which will show that this is no new thing that you have witnessed here today; it will reveal to you the forces with which you have to deal. Yesterday . . .

There was an interruption. A voice in the crowd, some twenty paces, perhaps, was raised to shout: "Yet another of them!"

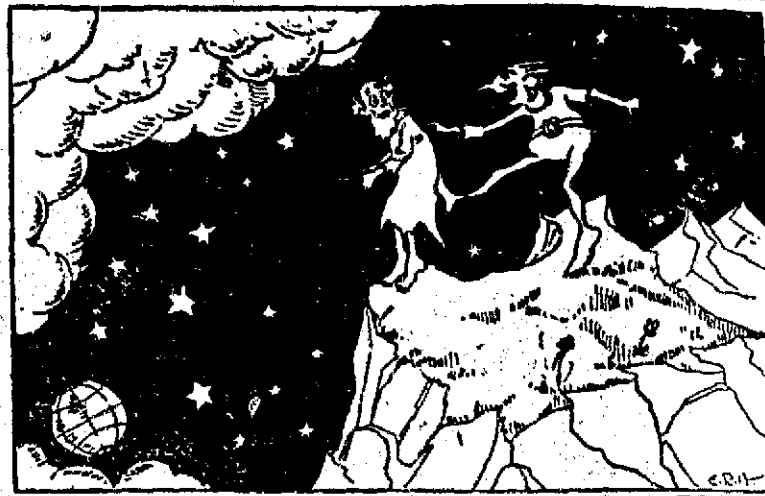

Immediately after the voice came a pistol-shot and a bullet fattened itself against the bronze figure just behind Andre-Louis.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

COMET-LEGS WINS POINT—BUT SO DO TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS HARTON

Quick as a wink he gave the Moon-Man a push.

Comet-Legs was the rival of Mr. Peorabout, the Man-in-the-Moon. One day he rode up to the moon on his star and hopped off.

"Now then," said he, "I'll just go round to the cities of the moon and show the moon people how handsome I am. No doubt they'll put old Peorabout out and give me his place."

"He's too old anyway, and earl-folks want a change. I'll bet they're good 'n' tired having the same old moon run the same old way."

The idea tickled Comet-Legs so much he began to ho, ho and hee, hee till his round tummy shook up and down like a plum pudding. By 'n' by he came to a mountain top and looked down at the earth. When he got up, there was old Peorabout looking at him!

Quick as a wink he gave the Moon-Man a push, and away he went head over heels into space. Comet-Legs went on his way. He was so tickled he began to make up a song of his own.

"This was it," he shouted. "When I saw the Man-in-the-Moon. As I really expect to be soon, I'll run it about, thru the clouds in and out."

And I'll turn night and day inside out without doubt!

And at midnight I'll see that it's noon.

"The moon I'll send 'tother way 'round."

That'll interest folks I'll be bound. From the west to the east, I shall shove it at least.

Quite half of the time after daylight has ceased From Pike's Peak to Long Island Sound."

Suddenly he stopped and gave a loud yell. "Stop that!" he shouted. But he was too late.

Nancy and Nick had come up to the sky and cut the rope he fastened his star with. Then they rode off on it toward the east.

TOLEDO WOMAN GAINS 24 POUNDS—TAKING TANLAC

"I Really Don't Believe I Would Be Alive Today But For This Wonderful Medicine," Declares Mrs. Gaffee.

"I have actually gained twenty-four pounds in weight in the last few weeks, and but for Tanlac, I really don't believe I would be alive today."

was the remarkable statement of Mrs. Gertrude Gaffee, 530 1-2 Broadway St., Toledo, Ohio.

"For years I was in terribly poor health and finally got to the point where I was almost a human frame. My appetite was very poor and after meals I suffered agonies with sharp pains in my stomach and from gas that was always forming. I was so weak and nervous I shook like a leaf and I hardly ever slept well."

There was a swelling in my feet and legs that bothered me a great deal; in fact, I was about half dead and had taken so much medicine that I did me no good I had despaired of ever getting well."

"But Tanlac put an end to all these troubles and I feel so good now it's nothing for me to take care of my two children and do all my housework. I just can't help praising Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Adv.

FEW GOOD SOUTHPAWS TURN UP IN MAJORS

BY BILLY EVANS.
WHAT is becoming of the southpaw pitchers? The other day, while discussing pitching in the majors with a couple of the National League umpires, I remarked:
"What good looking left-handed pitchers broke into your league this year?"
"None," replied one of the arbiters.
"Bill Bailey is the best looking left-hander that has broken into the league in a couple of years," replied the other.

That struck me as rather interesting, since Bill Bailey had his chance in the American League for three or four seasons, then dropped back into the minors.
For about ten years he was shunted around in the bushes, only to come back last season with the St. Louis Cardinals for his second big chance in the majors.
SECOND COMEBACK
Here was a fellow who had been pitching for 15 years, coming back for his second chance, and being classed as about the best looking southpaw that has debuted in the National League for a couple of years. Conditions in the American League have been very much similar, altho perhaps not quite as bad as expressed by my brother umpires of the National.

ONLY TWO SOUTHPAWS
"What about the southpaws? Are they becoming extinct?"
Last fall the St. Louis Browns of the American League gave 11 players for Dave Danforth. This further tends to show the scarcity of southpaws, because Danforth previously had two trials in the American League.
Of all the southpaw recruits tried out in the spring by the eight American League clubs, only two have shown up to advantage. I have reference to Fred Helmach of the Athletics and Herb Pratt of the St. Louis Browns.

Helmach has turned in several mighty easy games for the Athletics. He has a 13-inning victory to his credit over "Red" Faber and a 4 to 3 win over the veteran Bob Shawkey. He has promise.
This fellow Pratt of the Browns threatens to be a much talked about young man before the season is over. Possibly the chances of the Browns to win the American League pennant may to a certain extent depend on this college southpaw.

SAYS OLYMPUS CAN BEAT MORVICH

BY BOB DORMAN
NEW YORK—"Whiskaway beat Morvich easily, but I believe that his stablemate, Olympus, can beat either of them, and that coming races will demonstrate the fact."
That is the opinion of James Rowe Jr., who with his father, James Rowe, has charge of the stable of H. P. Whitney, from which came the runner that defeated the hitherto unbeaten Morvich.
Rowe does not maintain a high opinion of the crop of three-year-olds now racing, he says.
"The three-year-olds running today are just an average lot.
"There is one of them that can be compared to Colin, Sysonby or Man o' War.
"Morvich won the derby, but there was no class to the field he beat.
"Whiskaway won over Morvich, but there was nothing remarkable in the performance.

HOW TO PLAY BASEBALL

Foolish Throwing Loses Many Ball Games

By BILLY EVANS
American League Umpire and Feature Editor, The News.

HUGHIE JENNINGS, famous major league manager, once made the statement to me that more ball games were lost through inaccurate and improper throwing than on missed fly balls. I thought it a rather strong statement. Close observation since has satisfied me of its truth.

For instance, we will say that with a runner on first the batsman hits safely to the outfield. It is almost a certainty the player on first will easily make third on the hit. To make a foolish throw to third on such a play is very bad baseball. By so doing it offers the opportunity for the batsman to reach second and thereby be in a position to score on a hit. The thing to do is get the ball back to second base as quickly as possible. This will hold the batsman on first.

When a runner is on second, and the batsman hits safely to the outfield, it usually is equally foolish to make a throw to the plate. It offers the same possibility as the foolish throw to third, giving the batsman a chance to reach second on the throw, whereas the correct play, nine times out of ten, is to hold the batsman on first.

Of course, if the run going over the plate is the winning run, the fielder is forced to make the play at the plate. If it is merely the tying run, the fielder should never throw to the plate, unless it is apparent that he has a very good chance to cut off the run.

Another essential thing for an outfielder to do is back up the baseman. The left fielder should always give assistance to the third baseman. Ofttimes he can cut across and be back of second.
The center fielder must always back up the shortstop or second baseman, when either is making a play at second.
The right fielder must always

FANS SAY TUT MAY LOSE

COLUMBUS—Since announcement several weeks ago that Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, is to box Tut Jackson, unwhipped Washington C. H., negro who has competed in 40 bouts, at the latter's home town July 4, many wise followers of the game are wondering how Jackson will stack up against the veteran.

All know Jackson can punch. A glance at his record is convincing. But how will he act against such a great defensive boxer as Johnson? Few have been able to connect solidly with the head or body of the man who lost all to Jess Willard, and according to the way Johnson is training fans believe the former king of the heavies still knows all his old time ring tricks.

The former champ is careful with his punches. He has to be, for he is almost out of sparring partners. To stick in his camp is some job. Many have found the going too rough.

Johnson is said to be in excellent condition, but hopes to be in better shape for his holiday contest with the ambitious colored youth.

Jackson has the longest reach in the fight world. His arms stretch 80 inches. Here's how Jackson, thought by many to be Dempsey's sure successor, compares physically with the champion.

Also, the outfielders should back each other up.

Tomorrow: This speaker, Cleveland outfielder, discusses an outfielder's work.

RUETHER WINS HIS 12TH

NEW YORK—Robinson's climbing Superbas with their pitching ace, Dutch Ruether, squeezed a 3-2 victory from the league-leading Giants. It was Ruether's twelfth victory of the season. The lowly Phillies bested the Braves 5-4 and the Pirates, hitting heavily, trimmed the Cubs 8-5. The Cards and Reds had an off day.

Cobb's Tigers took an eleven inning battle from the leading Browns, 3-2, while the Yankees were defeated by the Red Sox, 6-2. The Bostonians found the youthful Hoyt's curves to their liking while Jack Quinn, a former Yank, allowed but five hits.

Speaker's Indians were shut out by the White Sox 3-0 while the Mackmen and Washington were idle.

MEET FOR WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE

CLEVELAND—Miss Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown and Miss Martha Kinzey of Cincinnati, met today for the women's golf championship of Ohio. Both have been playing remarkable golf and predictions were made should they display form shown in the first few days the course record, established by Miss Fordyce Wednesday may be broken.

After lowering the record to 86 on Tuesday, Miss Fordyce turned in an 85 on Wednesday. On that day Miss Kinzey turned in a card of 83 but was conceded three holes, depriving her of a record.

STRENGTHEN HOLD

Kiwanians strengthened their hold on first place in the business men's baseball league Thursday afternoon by severely trimming the luckless Elks 21 to 1. While "Red" Hoffman was pitching a good game, the Kiwanis club jumped on Madigan, Baker and O'Connor for a huge pile of bingles, single, double and triple.

GAME IS INSURED

As a precautionary measure against the weather, the management of the Lima Independents has taken out $500 rain insurance on the House of David game here July 2. The greatest crowd in local baseball history will be present, the management says and it is believed the grounds will be taxed to capacity. It is estimated 3,000 will be in attendance. Requests for tickets already have been received.

What Ails Yankees -- Ruth, Huggins or Golf?

MILLER HUGGINS

NEW YORK—What about the Yankees? That is the big topic of conversation on Broadway. Likewise it is being discussed elsewhere, for all the baseball world is interested in Babe Ruth and Company.

The Yankees have a great ball club. That is an admitted fact. The Yankees have just finished a tour of the west in which the club played much more like a second division aggregation than a pennant-winning possibility.

What is the matter with the Yankees? Something is seriously wrong. On the surface the following possibilities present themselves:
Is the club being overgilded? That is a rather unusual question to ask about a baseball club.
A majority of the New York players are golf bugs.
Ever since the golf germ invaded the ranks of professional baseball it has been a much mooted question whether or not it was beneficial for the diamond and schute.
TOO MUCH GOLF?
It is beginning to look as if the Yankees would answer the question, in the case of the New York American League club it would seem that golf was mighty harmful to the best interests of the club.

It is being overdone. Golf is getting as much, if not more, attention than the game the athletes are paid fancy salaries to perform at.
Is the New York club stronger with Ruth in the lineup? Does there exist an ill feeling between Ruth and Manager Huggins that has caused the team to be split into factions, thereby destroying the discipline of the club and the authority of Huggins?
Too much golf; too much Ruth; too little effort. Those are the three big reasons that loom up for the failure of the Yankees to step right out in front.
The Yankees comprise too strong a club to go out and lose eight straight games against inferior opposition.

INDEPENDENTS TO BE SHAKEN UP FOR NEXT GAME

A shakeup in the Lima Independent lineup is impending as the result of failure of several players to deliver the goods and an injury to one of them.

When the home club stacks up against the Western Bloomer Girls Sunday Connie Bresnahan, who has played miserably at third, will probably be switched to second to make room for Harold Bible, the Grove City college player, a brilliant infielder.

LEG TROUBLE
Chuck Nichols has been having leg trouble since he slid into a base several games back and strained the tendons in one limb. He may be played in the outfield to give him a chance to rest up. The outer garden will be complete with Charley Reynolds, the old reliable, and Danny O'Connell.

With Galberach on first, Bresnahan at second and Pohlable and Bible at shortstop and third respectively the Independents will have an infield that can compete with any semi-pro club. It is believed.

HITTING O. K.
Nothing ails the team's hitting and Main's superb exhibition of relief hurling Sunday proves he is the goods. The management is taking

8 COLTS ENTERED

CINCINNATI—The field for the $50,000 Kentucky Special at a year olds, is virtually complete and the seemingly impossible task of bringing together eight of the best colts of that division has been accomplished. Five of them came from the East—Morvich, winner of the Kentucky Derby and eleven other races; Pillory, which won the Freshness, and the Belmont, and three from Harry Payne Whitney's stable, Whiskaway, the only horse that ever defeated Morvich, and Olympus and Broomster.
The West will make its bid for the big classic with Deadlock, John Finn, which ran third in the Kentucky Derby and Thibodeaux.
IN GOOD SHAPE
All of the eastern horses arrived in fine style and without mishap of any kind. They will be out on the track today and all probably will be given a fast sprint final preparation for their appearance in the special on Saturday.
The probable starters and their jockeys are:
Morvich (F. Keogh); Pillory (C. H. Miller); Whiskaway (L. P. Pannan); Olympus (L. Morris); Broomster; Deadlock (E. Martin); John Finn (E. Pool) and Thibodeaux (B. Kennedy). Each horse will carry 126 pounds.
In addition to the cash value of the race, a $2,000 gold cup will be presented to the winner.

That Furious Squabble About the Prettiest Shoulders in England

It Began When Connoisseur Descartes Quite Innocently Admired Lovely Miss Bellew, and Now Rival Beauties Are Making Him Wish He Hadn't

Miss Kyrie Bellew and Her Pretty Shoulders Over Which the Newest European Fuss Has Been Raised.

Maria di Castellani, Famous Italian Dancer, Will Match Her Shoulders Against Those of Any Other Beauty.

ENGLAND is all a-buzz about shoulders—soft shoulders, dimpled shoulders, stately shoulders; shoulders that shimmy; shoulders that are calm as classic marble; vampire shoulders, droopy shoulders, haughty shoulders, timid shoulders; every type and departure of shoulders gracing the form of womanhood are in the squabble!

It all began when Maurice Descartes, the famous Parisian artist, wandered into a Piccadilly theatre, gazed at Kyrie Bellew, the actress, and delivered this epic statement: "She is the most beautiful woman in England because she has the prettiest shoulders in England."

That was, so to speak, a shoulder-shaking assertion. For M. Descartes immediately drew on his own shoulders the fire of half the painters and sculptors in England, and they were reinforced by more than a hundred beauties of the studios and the stage, each of whom swung a lovely pair of shoulders herself and was quite eager to match them against Miss Bellew's.

The sculptors and painters, somewhat to the surprise of laymen, agreed with M. Descartes in his estimate of shoulders as woman's finest feature. Truly perfect shoulders, they said, were as rare as radium. Shoulders, chorused the artists, can be as expressive as eyes. They may invite, repel, defy, dare, languish, ridicule, annihilate with a shrug, plead wistfully with a single tilt, brave the world with one gesture. A face may depend for its attraction on cosmetics; shoulders are beautiful or they are not.

But when it came to admitting the superiority of Miss Bellew's shoulders over all the shoulders in the nation, opinions of the beauty pickers parted in all directions. Each one of the painters had his favorite model; each one of the sculptors had a "muse"; in scarcely two instances did any two painters or sculptors agree. And, besides these specialists, there were dozens of theatre managers, movie producers, dancing teachers—to say nothing of the beauties themselves—who came forward with candidates to dispute the crown M. Descartes had awarded to Miss Bellew.

Everybody was perfectly willing to admit that Miss Bellew's shoulders were fair to look upon. Miss Bellew, who in private life is Mrs. Arthur Boucher, is one of the most beautiful women on the English stage. She is a namesake of the late Kyrie Bellew, a relative, who created the role of "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," on the stage. In her last play, "The Love Match," she wore several evening gowns that displayed her shoulders strikingly. It was then M. Descartes saw her and awarded her "the prettiest shoulders in England" title.

Fedorova, the Russian Ballet Dancer, Whose Shoulders Have Been Pronounced Perfect.

Miss Margaret Morris, the English Dancer, Claims to Have Prettier Shoulders Than Miss Bellew.

Miss Ruby Lorraine, Raphael Kirchner's First Model, Is Now One of the Most Famous Models in England. Compare Her Shoulders with Miss Bellew's.

At Right, Dorothy Dickson, the Chicago Beauty, Whose Shoulders Are Declared to Be the Prettiest in England.

agreed another artist. "But they are classic—chaste. I prefer shoulders of a more voluptuous type. For example, the shoulders of Fedorova, the Russian dancer. They are not only beautiful in repose, they are exquisitely sensitive in their every movement. Fedorova can put a poem into a shrug."

Similar qualities were urged for the shoulders of Margaret Morris and Helen Morris, dancers. Their advocates argued that the beauty of shoulders could not be measured as one would judge a still life painting; shoulders were as much a part of the personality of their owner as her mouth and eyes. They should react to all emotions—laugh when she laughed, weep when she wept, rejoice when she was jubilant.

An American candidate for the "prettiest shoulders" prize came forward in the person of Dorothy Dickson, the Chicago girl who has delighted London with her charm in the title role of "Sally." Her boosters offered to bet that no woman in the world—let alone England—could bring shoulders to match those Miss Dickson presents to the public gaze when she advances down the golden stairway in the garden party scene in "Sally."

Of course, France couldn't let the United States and Great Britain bargain for such a concession all by themselves; Polaire, the celebrated Parisian dancer, was starring in a London revue. She boasts that she is "the ugliest woman in the world." But not in grace of movement! The French said they were willing to champion Polaire's shoulders against the shoulders of Dorothy Dickson, Kyrie Bellew, Fedorova or any other beauty.

Polaire had scarcely been entered by her compatriots for the shoulder stakes when the controversy took on an even more international tinge. The public was invited to consider the shoulders of Maria di Castellani, of Milan, Italy, who was then dancing at one of the leading night clubs.

Artistic and Bohemian London are getting more and more "het up" over the shoulder squabble with every new entry. Latest reports are that society is becoming interested and is likely to enter several "prettiest shoulders" winners of its own.

Thus far, however, the stage and the studios are the battleground of the shoulder-shakers, with Miss Bellew England's best bet against Miss Dickson, of the U. S. A.; Polaire, of France; Fedorova, representing Russia, and Maria di Castellani from sunny Italy. The artists and the beauties themselves are taking it very seriously, but the wags are suggesting that if matters get much more hectic Lord George will have to call another European conference to settle the question once and for all as to who has the prettiest shoulders in England.

MOTHER, TWO DAUGHTERS, IN BUSINESS TOGETHER

That is the policy of Mrs. Lillian Summers, who conducts a real estate business in Arlington, N. J. She has found her two daughters of great value to her in turning deals and of value to themselves in learning how to do it.

"When I started in business 13 years ago," says Mrs. Summers, "it was a rather daring thing and some of my masculine competitors sneered."

"But I've beaten many a man at his game since."

"A woman can be successful in any business if she uses her head. She knows more about a man's disposition than a man does, and for that reason should be able to outsell him."

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK—Raw sugar firm with spot and nearby Cubas unchanged to 3 1-4c and freight, equal to 4.8c for centrifugal with second half July shipment 1 1-16 higher at 3 5-16c cost and freight equal to 4.9c.

Raw sugar futures at midday were four to six points net lower. There were no changes in refined sugar with fine granulated listed at 6.20 to 6.30. Refined futures nominal.

MUTT AND JEFF—THE CRIME WAVE CAN WAVE FOR ALL MUTT CARES

BRINGING UP FATHER—

SHORT SHAVINGS

Chief of Police Lanker journeyed to Dayton a short time ago, to get a prisoner whom authorities there had picked up for Lima officials. While there he visited with a member of the Dayton police force who had gone on a fishing trip with him when Lanker was a member of the force. During the fishing trip, Lanker had, as a practical joke, caused his friend to wade into a deep hole in the river. The friend had warned him that he would "get even."

While at headquarters during the visit, the friend offered to show Lanker some of the results of liquor raids in Dayton. "Just smell this stuff," he told Lanker as he handed him a bottle of what appeared to be perfectly legitimate bootleg liquor. Lanker lifted the bottle to his nose and took a big long sniff. An instant later a deluge of tears came from the chief's eyes. As the artificial flow began to cease and the Dayton officer recovered from his hysterical laughter, he said to the chief:

"I told you I'd get even with you. How do you like tear gas?"

John Williams, traveling salesman, picked up a newspaper on the table at the home of an artist friend. Glancing down a vacant column he noted a business opportunity which interested him. He was setting out to answer it when he found that the newspaper, which had been kept as a curiosity, was dated 1885.

Walter Toy tells this on a civil engineer friend who was surveying an allotment near Russell's Point. "We wondered," he says, "why he looked so long thru a transit, until we found the transit and stake were set up in line with the bathing beach. Fortunately he did not strain his eye."

INVENTION AMPLIFIES SIGNALS MILLION TIMES

By PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Greatest Radio Authority

Present day radio hinges entirely around contributions which Edwin Howard Armstrong, formerly in charge of army radio in France, has made toward the advancement of the wireless art.

He discovered and charted the travels of the electrons within the mysterious vacuum tube so dear to the hearts of all radio fans.

He was the first to make the little tube perform in the changing of direct current into high frequency oscillations used in wireless, thus providing a simpler means of producing an electric wave suitable for radio telephony.

He was the first to demonstrate how this vacuum tube could be relied upon to amplify an extremely weak signal over and over again.

With the final result that it would become very strong, thus making possible the regenerative receivers now used in so many homes.

SUPER-REGENERATION

Finally, he has taken this form of receivers and improved it so that it can now give amplifications of a million times and upward.

Instead of one or two hundred times!

"A short way to describe the super-regenerative circuit," says Armstrong, "is that one vacuum tube is made to do the work formerly done by three. It has been known for several years that the limit of amplification is reached when the negative charge in the tube approaches the positive.

"In experimenting I found that it was possible to increase the negative charge temporarily, for about 1-20,000 of a second, above the positive and still keep the average down. It is this possibility of increase which permits the enormous amplification and enables me to eliminate two tubes from the circuit."

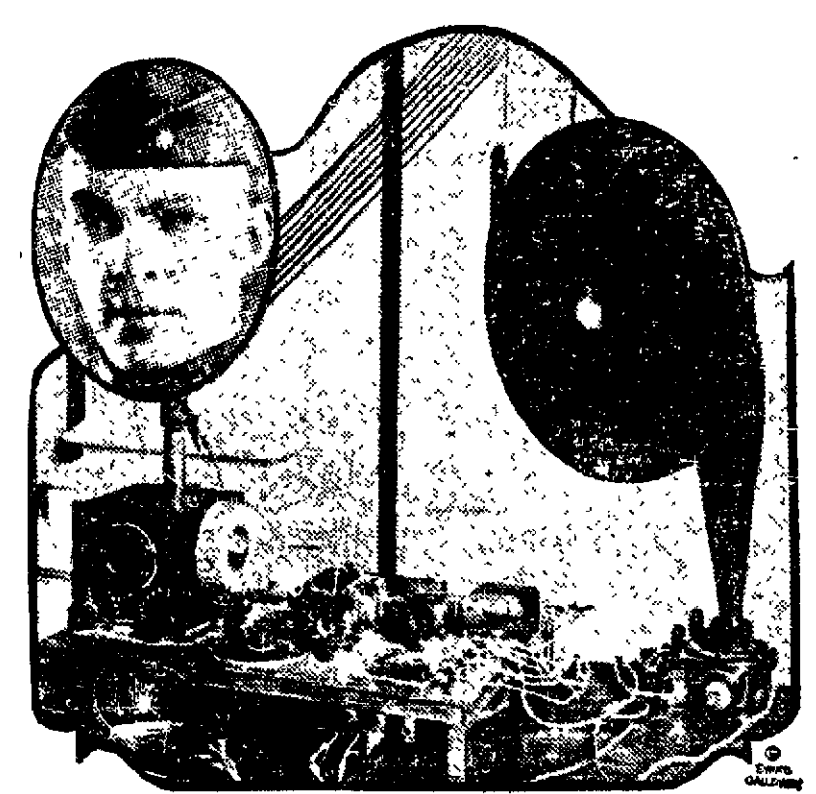

NO OUTSIDE AERIALS

"An outfit equipped with a super-regenerative circuit," Armstrong goes on to explain, "is so sensitive that outside aerials are unnecessary. Receiving sets without outside aerials have been possible for some time, but they have been so expensive that most amateurs have not been able to afford them. With this improved circuit, inside sets can be manufactured at the same price as those requiring cumbersome outside aerials.

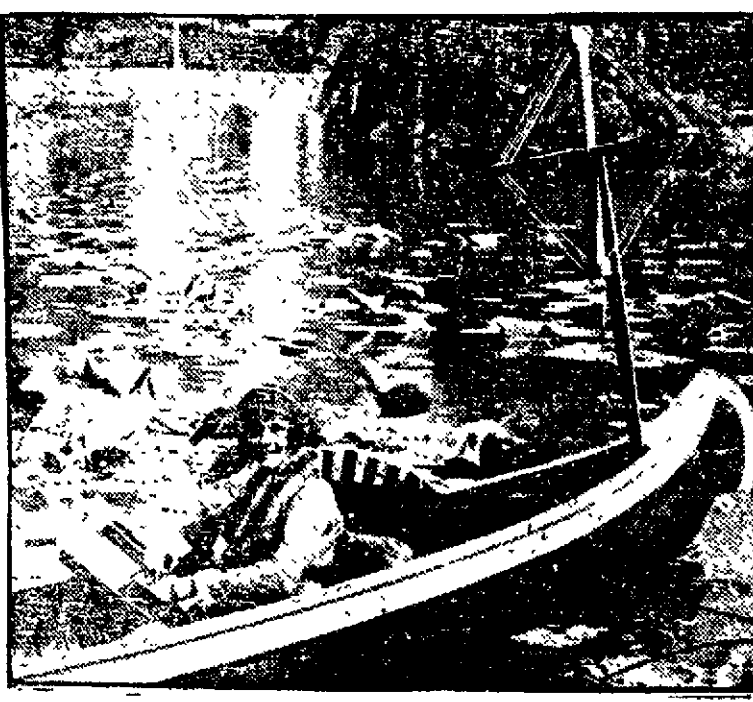

"The other practical result will be the ability to detect wave lengths under 200 meters with ordinary amateur sets. In the past short wave lengths were indistinguishable for small sets."

Three tubes used with the circuit will give sufficient signal to fill a lecture hall.

LET RADIO BE YOUR COMPANION

You may enjoy canoeing all alone, if you take a radio set along. Miss Ann May of Los Angeles has supplanted the mandolin and banjo with a small wireless set. Now she goes out on the lake near her home and while the canoe drifts along, she enjoys a radio concert from the nearest broadcasting station.

Sunburn, Tan and Freckles

No woman need dread such disfigurements if she will only treat the skin to a daily Buttermilk Cream massage.

Howard's Buttermilk Cream will bleach sunburn, tan and even freckles entirely from some skins and will make them much less conspicuous in others.

There is no secret about it—it's simply ordinary buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream, obtainable at all first-class toilet goods counters.

If you cannot obtain locally send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for generous trial package of both cream and soap. Howard Bros. Co., Buffalo, N. Y. All druggists.—Adv.

PESKY BED-BUGS

(Pesky Devils Quietus) P. D. Q. is the new chemical that puts the everlasting to the pesky bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants and cooties—impossible for the pesky devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

Recommendations of Hotels, Hospitals, Railroad Companies and other public institutions are a guarantee to the public that the safest, quickest and most economical way of eradicating the pesky insects is by the use of P. D. Q., as this chemical kills the eggs as well as the live ones, and will not injure the clothing.

A 35c package makes a full quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas or cooties—and also contains a patent sprout to get the eggs stuck in the hard-to-get-at places and saves twice. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form.
